

Super Rocket Performs Flawlessly; Orbits Apollo 4

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Saturn 5 super-rocket scored a resounding success on its maiden test flight today, orbiting a record 40-ton space vehicle and shooting the unmanned Apollo 4 moonship deep into space.

The historic flight gave this nation's man-in-space program a much-needed shot in the arm and revived hopes that U.S. astronauts can still land on the moon in this decade.

With a thundering burst of power, the most powerful rocket ever assembled blasted away from its launch pad at exactly 7 a.m. EST today after a perfect countdown — something that few people believed possible for such a complex machine.

The three stages of the monster Saturn 5 ignited with drill-like precision during an 11-minute boost phase and shoved the massive payload, including the still-attached third stage, into orbit 115 miles high.

Three hours later, after two orbits of the globe, the hydrogen-powered third stage restarted its engine on ground command and propelled the 64,000-pound Apollo 4 vehicle outward toward a high point of 11,400 miles.

The reignition of the third stage gave flight controllers an anxious moment. A vent valve refused to respond to commands to close, until the last moment when it finally closed.

The spacecraft separated from the stage and a motor on board fired for 15 seconds to provide final power to reach the planned altitude. Had it burned a few seconds longer, Apollo 4 could have gone to the moon, but that was not planned for today's flight because of the need to test the heat shield on re-entry.

After reaching the 11,400-mile altitude, the spacecraft was to plunge back through the atmosphere at nearly 25,000 miles an hour—the speed at which astronauts will return from the moon. The fiery dive would determine how well the heat shield survives re-entry temperatures expected to reach 4,500 degrees.

Apollo 4 was to parachute to a landing in a rough Pacific Ocean, 622 miles northwest of Hawaii, at 3:41 p.m.

Of today's rocket, only the Apollo spacecraft was to come home to earth. The mammoth first stage fell apart plunging into the Atlantic, although a chunk eight feet long was sighted in the sea. The second and third stages and the Apollo service module were consigned to destruction in fiery re-entries.

"It's been a flight almost incredibly free of any problems," commented a spokesman at NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex., where the mission was being controlled.

Sen. Fulbright, HHH Clash On Viet War

Vice President Reports on Tour Of War Zone

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey reportedly clashed verbally over administration aims in Southeast Asia at a White House briefing on Vietnam.

Humphrey reported Wednesday to President Johnson, Cabinet, Security Council members and lawmakers of both parties on his Southeast Asia survey trip at a session in which attending Senate and House members were allowed one question each.

In the course of this round-robin, Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is said to have contended the administration is taking conflicting positions on what it is trying to accomplish in Vietnam.

A persistent war policy critic, Fulbright reportedly cited the statements of U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg that the United States is fighting to insure the right of the South Vietnamese to political self-determination.

On the other hand, Fulbright reportedly said, Humphrey's recent statements have supported a thesis Johnson has laid down in recent utterance—that the real enemy is aggressive Asian communism, headquartered in Red China.

Fulbright has said a policy of containing Chinese Communist expansion implies permanent U.S. occupation of parts of Southeast Asia instead of relatively early withdrawal of American military forces after a negotiated end to the war.

After reciting this promise, the Arkansas senator was said to have asked Humphrey: "Just who is our enemy there?"

"You don't have to ask the GI whose leg has been cut off who the enemy is," Humphrey was quoted as replying.

Fulbright got no chance to pursue the issue further when the questioning round passed to another.

Fulbright would not comment on the exchange except to say Humphrey gave a report "intended to convey the impression that things are going well in Vietnam." Humphrey did not discuss the meeting with newsmen.

Judge Lets Firm Stay on Job

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A judge granted a temporary order Wednesday against the state in behalf of a Cleveland plumbing firm that pleaded it was unable to comply with the state's wishes on an anti-discrimination directive.

The order by Franklin County Common Pleas Court Judge Myron B. Gessman prevents the state from closing the contract of the Henry Riemann Plumbing and Heating Co. for work on the basic science building of Cleveland State University. Riemann has a $471,216 contract.

Officials of the company said Public Works Director Albert C. Gienow threatened to cancel the contract unless the company gave assurances discrimination was not being practiced by its hiring sources. The firm said it had told Gienow it was powerless to get such assurance.

Britain's Wilson Faces Party Split

LONDON (AP) — A major revolt erupted inside Britain's ruling Labor party today against Prime Minister Harold Wilson's austerity policies, and a public opinion poll showed Wilson's popularity with the voters is dropping sharply.

More than 70 Laborite legislators signed a motion calling for an immediate change in the government's program to keep unemployment up this winter, partly to reduce imports and partly to encourage workers to shift to export industries.

Wilson failed in the House of Commons lobbies Wednesday night to head off an open revolt. Political sources said he offered the rebels a debate on employment policy in a closed party caucus but they rejected this attempt to take the heat out of the issue and went ahead with their censure motion.

A national opinion poll by the pro-Conservative Daily Mail showed that 49 per cent of those questioned were satisfied with Wilson, compared with 54 per cent in the Mail's last poll Oct. 19. Opposition leader Edward Heath's rating climbed from 36 to 47 per cent. The poll showed that in a general election now, 45.6 per cent would vote Conservative and 37.6 per cent Labor. Labor had a 1.9 per cent lead three weeks ago.

The Laborite rebels know that if they forced new elections, most of them would lose their seats. Their motion is not likely to come to a Common vote that could bring down Wilson's government.

But it is especially embarrassing to Wilson because the rebels are not confined to the party's militant left wing. They include right-wing members from the trade unions and veteran party workhorses.

Ballot Shortage Brings Protest

DELPHOS, Ohio (AP) — Ballot shortage claims ranging from 50 to 200 brought a wave of protests Wednesday from Republicans in this town on the Allen-Van Wert county line.

The trouble stemmed from Tuesday's mayoral race in which Democrat Harold W. Wieging defeated Republican James N. Wiltse by an unofficial margin of 81 votes. Republicans assert that the outcome might have been different if the ballot shortage had not occurred. Delphos precincts in Van Wert County use paper ballots, while precincts in Allen County use voting machines.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown's office said that only a court could set an election aside and that such an action would permit the present mayor to continue to serve until a successor was named.

Barn Fire Causes Loss Of $14,500

Blaze Believed Started by Youth Playing with Matches

A fire, believed started by a youth playing with matches, destroyed a barn and its contents on the Allen Hoover farm two miles northwest of Fox 3:52 p. m. Wednesday.

Firemen from five volunteer departments battled the blaze. The loss was estimated at over $14,500 by authorities.

The 80 by 90-foot structure and its contents were insured. There were 4,000 bales of straw stored in the building as well as three wagons and numerous small hand tools.

Fire Departments summoned to keep the raging fire from spreading to other buildings were from Jackson and Hamilton Twp. in Franklin County, Williamsport, Ashville Harrison and Commercial Point.

IN ADDITION to the supply of water taken to the farm by the departments, over 8,000 gallons were hauled in tankers from Circleville. Firemen were called back at 1 a. m. today when the charred ruins started blazing again.

The blaze was reported by Mrs. John Steele, who lives at the farmstead.

Mrs. Steele told Pickaway County Deputies George Linder and James Lockard that she returned home at about 3:15 p.m. Her children, Michele Rene' and Steven, aged 8 and 6 respectively, got home from school shortly after.

The girl ran into the house after they had been home for some time, crying the barn was on fire.

Mrs. Steele summoned firemen. According to the Pickaway County Sheriff's report of the investigation, the fire was allegedly started by the 6-year-old son, who was playing with matches.

Newsletter Still Comes In U.S. Mail

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The U.S. Post Office Department apparently still is delivering the militant Crusader newsletter mailed to Americans from Red China, although it said last summer it would not.

Bob Glendy, a reporter for the Charlotte News, said he received the July edition of the Crusader in today's mail. He said it was in a plain white envelope and bore no return address. The envelope was postmarked Peking.

The Crusader is edited by Negro Robert Williams, formerly of Monroe, N.C., who fled to Cuba after being charged with kidnapping following a racial upheaval in Monroe in 1961.

Williams published the Crusader from Cuba until he left Havana for the Orient in 1966. Since then it has been mailed from Peking.

Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien announced in August that the Crusader was barred from the U.S. mails. He said it advocates violence in U.S. cities and encourages Negro servicemen in Vietnam to kill their Caucasian fellow servicemen.

The Customs Department was asked to help intercept the newsletter.

Veteran Railroad Worker Killed by Freight Train

Glenn E. Ross, 58, of Kingston, was killed 4:17 p.m. Wednesday when struck by a Norfolk and Western freight train at the South Court St. railroad crossing.

An employee of the N & W Railroad Co., Ross was working on the tracks at the time of the accident.

He and his helper, William Sheets of Richmondale, were notified that an east-bound freight was approaching the crossing by Dick Wellington, tower operator.

The two workers cleared their tools from the track. Authorities believe Ross went back to retrieve a pillow he sits on while welding on the tracks.

HE was thrown about 85 feet by the force of the impact. The train was traveling at about 40 miles per hour, Frank Marcum, the engineer told Circleville Police.

Ross was pronounced dead on arrival at Berger Hospital of massive chest and internal injuries.

Born May 10, 1909 in Kingston, he was the son of Charles and Rose Barnhart Ross.

He was a member of the Kingston Methodist Church and had been an employee of the N&W for 40 years.

Survivors include his widow, Eleanor Gatwood Ross; three daughters, Mrs. Donald (Jackie) Dearth; Mrs. Irwin (Connie) Dresback, both of Kingston; Mrs. William (Betsy) Beavers, Chillicothe; seven grandchildren.

Goddard Rapped On Drug Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. James L. Goddard, appearing before a House panel, was told his remarks on marijuana have been "taken as license" and are "a great disservice to all people who are interested in this problem."

The remarks which Goddard, head of the Food and Drug administration made at a Minneapolis news conference last month "left a very clear implication that if it—the use of marijuana—weren't against the law it would be all right," declared Rep. Dan Kuykendall, R-Tenn.

Goddard repeated to members of the House Commerce Committee his belief that marijuana represents less of a national health problem than alcohol. And he said that while he favors severe penalties for seller of marijuana, he believes penalties aimed solely at possession "makes criminals of young people in our society who experiment with these drugs."

But he emphasized he also believes marijuana is dangerous, said he opposes its use and has never advocated it be legalized.

Vultures Return To Miami Roosts

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Miami's 20th century vultures — something like the swallows of Capistrano but more like the messy starlings of northern city halls — are back in town, once more forsaking the wilderness of the Everglades for gracious urban living.

Again they're soaring over bustling, neon-lit downtown Miami as though it were a game preserve.

The city slicker vultures with wing spreads up to six feet—decided 10 or 12 years ago that the Dade County Courthouse, despite crowded conditions and the noise that goes with urban apartments, would make a good homestead.

Their less enlightened country cousins continued the tired, old migration to the Everglades.

"It's unique, I don't know of any other city where vultures roost on a building," said Dr. Oscar Owre, ornithologist at the University of Miami. "They usually don't favor civilization."

And the courthouse, one of the tallest buildings in downtown Miami, is the only building favored by the vultures, kin to the soaring condors of Peru and California.

Some are year-round tenants on top of the 28-story building, but conditions aren't really crowded until the snow flies in the north. Sometimes more than 50 are visible on top of the building.

"They're like the tourists," said J. Norman Peters, building superintendent, "some are here all year but the big flock comes to Florida in the winter."

Politicians have corny jokes to explain why the vultures chose the courthouse and the biologists have theories.

But nobody knows for sure.

Krabach Sets Campaign Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Finance Director Richard Krabach said Thursday he will meet with a representative of "another Midwest governor" to discuss plan for a national GOP governors' fund to help elect and re-elect Republican governors.

Krabach referred to a proposal to the nation's other 25 GOP governors by Gov. James A. Rhodes at the recent National Governors' Conference.

It has been received with little enthusiasm by National Republican Chairman Ray C. Bliss who says a governor's fund would cut into national resources and at the same time create a powerful new bloc in the party.

See No Changes In Ohio Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There probably will be no changes in Ohio's tax structure by the General Assembly which reconvenes Jan. 15 after an extended recess, House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood says.

He said it is unlikely that a select House committee headed by Rep. Albert H. Sealy R-84 Dayton will be ready to report at that time.

Sealy's committee is making an intense study of state and local tax structure with a look at possible revisions to include relief for the property owner.

Even after the committee reports, Kurfess told newsmen Wednesday, study "will require extensive hearing."

Try Again On Mideast

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council is making a new attempt to break the Middle East deadlock despite signs of hardening positions by both Israel and Egypt.

Egypt requested a meeting of the 15-nation council this afternoon to deal with Israel's refusal to withdraw from territory it seized during the June war. A government spokesman told a news conference in Cairo there could be no move toward a settlement until Jewish forces pull back.

In New York, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told newsmen Egypt's demand that Israel withdraw without a peace treaty defining frontiers "is so irrational that it is amazing to find it proposed."

Eban said that, because of its provision for withdrawal, an Indian resolution aimed at promoting a settlement was unacceptable. He criticized a rival U.S. draft, contending it did not give enough stress to Israel's insistence on direct negotiation with the Arab states.

The Israeli Foreign Minister also found fault with a Japanese working paper circulating among council members. He said that, like the Indian resolution, it prejudices Israel's position on withdrawal.

Westmoreland Sees Severe Setback For Communists

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infantrymen battled back today against new attacks from tough North Vietnamese regulars entrenched in the central highlands near Dak To. Gen. William C. Westmoreland said seven days of fighting in the area near Dak To has resulted in a "severe setback" for the Communists.

Initial field reports said American soldiers killed three more Communist troops in a two and a half hour skirmish today, while one more U.S. soldier was killed. This raised total casualties for the week in the area to 209 Communists and 45 Americans killed and 130 Americans wounded, the U.S. Command said.

The air war against North Vietnam cost the United States three Air Force planes and two fliers Wednesday, the U.S. Command announced, including an F4 Phantom downed by a Communist MIG21's air-to-air missile in a dogfight west of Hanoi.

This brought total losses in the North Tuesday and Wednesday to five planes and five fliers and raised to 732 the total number of American combat planes officially reported lost in the northern aerial war.

The U.S. Command reported an increase in U.S. and enemy troops killed in Vietnam last week while South Vietnamese casualties were less than the week before. It said 178 Americans (Continued on Page 2)

Ohio Retail Sales Rise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sales by Ohio retailers increased five per cent in the first nine months of 1967 compared to the corresponding period of 1966, Ohio State University's Bureau of Business Research reported today.

The biggest gains were in home furnishings (29 per cent), general merchandise other than home furnishings (29 per cent), and service stations (21 per cent). Auto sales were up 16 per cent, the bureau reported.

Regionally, during September, sales were equal to or ahead of September 1966 in all parts of the state except Chillicothe, down five per cent, and Hamilton-Middletown, down a fraction.

Gains were Akron and Cleveland, 5 per cent; Canton 11 per cent; Cincinnati 12, Columbus 15, Dayton and Toledo 6, Portsmouth 7 and Youngstown 2 per cent.

Auto Union And Chrysler In Accord

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. and the United Auto Workers union, after 34 consecu-tive hours of bargaining, have a tentative agreement today on a contract covering 95,000 of the company's 103,000 UAW mem-bers.

Despite the agreement, some workers were on walkout that hobbled Chrysler output.

Negotiators were too weary Wednesday night to continue bargaining on contract provi-sions covering 8,000 salaried workers the UAW represents at Chrysler, but spokesmen said they hoped to have these prob-lems solved by the weekend.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther called it "the best agreement we've ever had" — even bigger than the estimated 6 per cent gains the union got at Ford two weeks ago to end a 46-day strike.

Almost identical to the Ford pact, the Chrysler contract pro-vides wage and fringe benefit gains of more than $1 an hour, with some wage gains alone amounting to 93 cents an hour over the three-year life of the pact.

The union also achieved at Chrysler the only major de-mand it failed to win at Ford—pay parity for Canadians, who, by mid-1970, will be paid the same amount per job as their American counterparts.

Barn Fire Causes Loss Of $14,500

Blaze Believed Started by Youth Playing with Matches

A fire, believed started by a youth playing with matches, de-stroyed a barn and its contents on the Allen Hoover farm two miles northwest of Fox 3:52 p. m. Wednesday.

Firemen from five volunteer departments battled the blaze. The loss was estimated at over $14,500 by authorities.

The 80 by 90 - foot structure and its contents were insured. There were 4,000 bales of straw stored in the building as well as three wagons and numerous small hand tools.

Fire Departments summoned to keep the raging fire from spreading to other buildings were from Jackson and Hamil-ton Twpns. in Franklin County, Williamsport, Ashville Harrison and Commercial Point.

IN ADDITION to the supply of water taken to the farm by the departments, over 8,000 gallons were hauled in tankers from Circleville. Firemen were called back at 1 a. m. today when the charred ruins started blaz-ing again.

The blaze was reported by Mrs. John Steele, who lives at the farmstead.

Mrs. Steele told Pickaway County Deputies George Linder and James Lockard that she re-turned home at about 3:15 p.m. Her children, Michele Renee and Steven, aged 8 and 6 respective-ly got home from school short-ly after.

Mrs. Steele summoned fire-men. According to the Picka-way County Sheriff's report of the investigation, the fire was allegedly started by the 6-year-old son, who was playing with matches.

Westmoreland Sees Severe Setback For Communists

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. infan-trymen battled back today against new attacks from tough North Vietnamese regulars en-trenched in the central high-lands near Dak To. Gen. Wil-liam C. Westmoreland said sev-en days of fighting in the area near Dak To has resulted in a "severe setback" for the Com-munists.

Initial field reports said American soldiers killed three more Communist troops in a two and a half hour skirmish to-day, while one more U.S. soldier was killed. This raised total casu-alties for the week in the area to 209 Communists and 45 Americans killed and 130 Americans wounded, the U.S. Command said.

The air war against North Vietnam cost the United States three Air Force planes and two fliers Wednesday, the U.S. Com-mand announced, including an F4 Phantom downed by a Com-munist MIG21's air-to-air mis-sile in a dogfight west of Hanoi.

This brought total losses in the North Tuesday and Wednes-day to five planes and five fliers and raised to 732 the total num-ber of American combat planes officially reported lost in the northern aerial war.

The U.S. Command reported an increase in U.S. and enemy troops killed in Vietnam last week while South Vietnamese casualties were less than the week before. It said 178 Ameri-

U.N. To Hear New Complaints

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council is making a new at-tempt to break the Middle East deadlock despite signs of hard-ening positions by both Israel and Egypt.

Egypt requested a meeting of the 15-nation council this after-noon to deal with Israel's refus-al to withdraw from territory it seized during the June war. A government spokesman told a news conference in Cairo there-could be no move toward a set-tlement until Jewish forces pull back.

In New York, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban told news-men Egypt's demand that Israel withdraw without a peace treaty defining frontiers "is so irra-tional that it is amazing to find it proposed."

Eban said that, because of its provision for withdrawal, an Indian resolution aimed at promoting a settlement was un-acceptable. He criticized a rival U.S. draft, contending it did not give enough stress to Israel's in-sistence on direct negotiation with the Arab states.

The Israeli Foreign Minister also found fault with a Japanese working paper circulating among council members. He said that, like the Indian resolu-tion, it prejudices Israel's posi-tion on withdrawal.

South Middletown Man Is Crushed

Witt was working on the car which was on a jack. The car slipped off the jack and crushed Witt's chest.

See No Changes In Ohio Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There probably will be no changes in Ohio's tax structure by the General Assembly which reconvenes Jan. 15 after an ex-tended recess, House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, R-Wood says.

He said it is unlikely that a select House committee headed by Rep. Albert H. Sealy R-84 Dayton will be ready to report at that time.

Sealy's committee is making an intense study of state and local tax structure with a look at possible revisions to include relief for the property owner. Even after the committee re-ports, Kurfess told newsmen Wednesday, study "will require extensive hearing."

Vultures Return To Miami Roosts

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Miami's 20th century vultures — some-thing like the swallows of Capis-trano but more like the messy starlings of northern city halls —are back in town, once more forsaking the wilderness of the Everglades for gracious urban living.

Again they're soaring over bustling, neon-lit downtown Mi-ami as though it were a game preserve.

The city slicker vultures with wing spreads up to six feet—decided 10 or 12 years ago that the Dade County Court-house, despite crowded condi-tions and the noise that goes with urban apartments, would make a good homestead.

Their less enlightened country cousins continued the tired, old migration to the Everglades.

"It's unique, I don't know of any other city where vultures roost on a building," said Dr. Oscar Owre, ornithologist at the University of Miami. "They usually don't favor civilization."

And the courthouse, one of the tallest buildings in downtown Miami, is the only building fa-vored by the vultures, kin to the soaring condors of Peru and California.

Some are year-round tenants on top of the 28-story building, but conditions aren't really crowded until the snow flies in the north. Sometimes more than 50 are visible on top of the build-ing.

"They're like the tourists," said J. Norman Peters, building superintendent, "some are here all year but the big flock comes to Florida in the winter."

Politicians have corny jokes to explain why the vultures chose the courthouse and the biologists have theories.

But nobody knows for sure,

Krabach Sets Campaign Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Finance Director Richard Krabach said Thursday he will meet with a representative of "another Midwest governor" to discuss plan for a national GOP governors' fund to help elect and re-elect Republican governors.

Krabach referred to a pro-posal to the nation's other 25 GOP governors by Gov. James A. Rhodes at the recent National Governors' Conference.

It has been received with little enthusiasm by National Republican Chairman Ray C. Bliss who says a governor's fund would cut into national re-sources and at the same time create a powerful new bloc in the party.

Stock Market
Up 7 Points

NEW YORK (AP)—A rebirth of blue-chip strength pushed the stock market into higher ground early this afternoon after an unsettled morning. Trading was active.

Gains outnumbered losers by less than 100 issue in the overall list but strength in key stock made the average perform better.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 7.34 at 856.91.

The Associated Press average of 60 stock at noon was up .8 at 308.0 with industrials up 2.3 rail off .4 and utilities up .3.

The market seemed to be groping for a trend in the morning as Wall Street tried to adjust following the up-and-down Wednesday session when a sharp and vigorous rally in the morning was followed by a sell-off which wiped out all the gains and sent the market to its eighth straight daily loss.

Price were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Max Ross Quits
At Marion Catholic

MARION, Ohio (AP) — Max Ross, who guided Marion Catholic to two straight unbeaten seasons in 1965 and 1966 announced his resignation Thursday as athletic director and head football coach.

Ross said he has no definite plans but will not continue in football or teaching.

Marion Catholic was the Associated Press' Class AA state champion last year. Ross won a 55-14 record at the school in eight years and this year's team has a 5-3-1 mark.

Under Ross' leadership, Catholic won four consecutive Mid Ohio Conference titles.

Wallace Tour
Draws Good
Akron Crowd

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Conservative George C. Wallace takes his campaign for presidential election to Toledo today after a mostly friendly reception in Akron.

The former governor of Alabama on a seven-day, six-city tour of Ohio testing support for a larger campaign if he becomes a candidate for president.

A crowd of perhaps 1,500 persons turned out in freezing weather for his 30-minute speech at the National Guard Armory Wednesday night. About 50 persons carried anti-Wallace signs and picketed in front of the armory before the speech. They put aside their signs and went into the armory for Wallace's talk.

Mimeographed slips of paper were passed out to the audience soliciting support for a nominating petition.

Petitions needed to have Wallace listed on Ohio ballots would require about 444,000 valid signatures—15 per cent of the total number of votes cast for governor in the last general election.

The Wallace schedule calls for speeches at Cleveland on Friday, Dayton next Monday, Columbus Tuesday and Cincinnati on Wednesday.

Draft Order
Hits Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — Draft chief Lewis B. Hershey says the White House knew in advance of his order that local draft boards revoke deferments of college students who won't carry their draft cards or who interfere with campus military recruiting.

"It's hard not to confer with the White House," the Selective Service director added. Hershey is directly responsible to President Johnson and reports directly other than through intermediaries.

Hershey said the Oct. 26 order, issued five days after a mass protest at the Pentagon, wouldn't apply to students peacefully protesting the draft or the Vietnam war but only to those who violate a law enacted earlier this year.

The law, spurred in Congress by demonstrations where draft cards were burned, provides maximum penalties of a five-year prison term and $10,000 fine for persons who illegally interfere with the draft law or regulations issued under it.

cans were killed and 793 wounded in the seven day period ending Saturday, while 1,894 enemy were killed.

South Vietnamese casualties last week were 160 killed, 533 wounded and 60 missing, the government said. The week before 166 Americans, 1,628 enemy and 220 South Vietnamese were reported killed.

In fighting Wednesday night near Dak To, two companies from the U.S. 4th Infantry Division stood off a three-pronged ground, mortar and rocket attack and drove the Communists off with the aid of a massive bombardment by artillery, tactical fighter-bombers and giant B52s, headquarters reported.

Officers said they counted 162 North Vietnamese dead on the battlefield, while American casualties were six dead and 15 wounded.

American intelligence reports indicate that as many as five or six North Vietnamese regiments are strung out in the region, possibly poised for a new attempt to drive across the center of South Vietnam. U.S. infantrymen have been sweeping the area to break up any developing offensive now that the monsoon rains have moved north.

Weather forecasters said Typhoon Freda, heading toward South Vietnam's midsection with winds of 75 miles an hour, would affect military operations over a wide part of the country. The typhoon was expected to hit early Friday about 180 miles north of Saigon at Nha Trang.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson plans a multistop tour of the nation this weekend visiting military bases in observance of Veterans Day.

It will be the President's first multipoint trip since he campaigned for Democratic congressional candidates in October 1966.

George Christian, White House press secretary, indicated Johnson would visit troops at Army, Air Force and Navy installations and may also stop at Marine and Coast Guard bases.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is getting a replica of a portrait of former first lady Bess Truman and efforts are being made to get portraits of Presidents John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson and their wives.

John Walker, director of the National Gallery, and a member of the White House Historical Association, which now contracts for such portraits, announced a portrait currently being painted of the late President Kennedy by artist Gardner Cox of Boston will be ready soon, probably by the end of the year.

He said he hoped to get Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and the Johnsons to have their portraits done also.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House facing a shortage of china because of larger banquets for foreign heads of state, has announced it is ordering its first full set of dishes in more than 15 years.

The new china, with 216 place settings, will have a wildflower theme at the suggestion of beautification-minded first lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson. It will be manufactured by Castleton China, Inc., of New York City.

Tiffany and Co., of New York City has been selected to design the china. The state flower of every state in the Union will be on one of the dessert plates.

The White House Historical Association will foot the bill for the new china. "It will be expensive," said Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, the first lady's press secretary.

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — The trial of a former Heath policeman, David Graham, 42 was postponed indefinitely Wednesday after Licking County authorities were notified he was in custody elsewhere.

Portsmouth police arrested Graham early Wednesday and held him in connection with an attempted burglary at an auto agency.

Graham was scheduled to go on trial in Licking County Common Pleas Court next Monday on charges of grand larceny and safe cracking. He is charged in the burglary last March of a Heath department store.

Draft Laws Explained

EDITOR'S NOTE: In an effort to create a greater public understanding of the laws and regulations governing the induction of personnel into the Armed Forces, the Selective Service System has prepared a series of pertinent questions and corresponding responses concerning provisions of the draft law. Here is another of the series.

Q. I will finish high school next January and will enter college a week later. What must I do to get a II-S college student deferment?

A. You must file a written request for a II-S deferment with your Local Board. After you have started your college work, you should have your school send a Student Certificate to your Local Board providing evidence that you are satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction at that institution.

Q. Will you tell me about the composition and appointment of a State Appeal Board?

A. There is one State Appeal Board established in each Federal Judicial District within a State. Each State Appeal Board normally has five members, appointed by the President upon recommendation of the Governor. Members shall be citizens of the United States who are not members of the armed forces or any reserve component. They must be residents of the area in which their board is appointed and they must be at least 30 years of age. The Appeal Board should be a composite Board and as such should include a physician, a lawyer, and representatives from labor, industry and, if applicable, from agriculture.

Q. I am over age 26. Recently I was declared a delinquent and ordered to report for induction. If the induction ages are 18½ to 26, how can I be inducted?

A. Registrants deferred on or after June 19, 1951, are liable for training and service until age 35. Additionally, any person who has failed or refused to report for induction remains liable for induction and, when available, shall be immediately inducted, regardless of age.

Bank Official
Urges Tax Hike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An American Bankers Association official called for approval of President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge and a reduction in federal spending at a news conference here Wednesday.

Dr. Charles Walker, executive vice president and executive manager of the bankers association, said "We have not had the proper leadership from the (federal) Administration."

Walker, here for the two-day Executive Bankers Conference of the Ohio Bankers Association, said "The general economic outlook is good for 1968, but we could have an overheated, inflated economy. That is why we favor a tax increase and a spending cut."

Stock Market Up 7 Points

NEW YORK (AP)—A rebirth of blue-chip strength pushed the stock market into higher ground early this afternoon after an unsettled morning. Trading was active.

Gains outnumbered losers by less than 100 issue in the overall list but strength in key stock made the average perform better.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 7.34 at 856.91.

The Associated Press average of 60 stock at noon was up .8 at 308.0 with industrials up 2.3 rail off .4 and utilities up .3. The market seemed to be groping for a trend in the morning as Wall Street tried to adjust following the up-and-down Wednesday session when a sharp and vigorous rally in the morning was followed by a sell-off which wiped out all the gains and sent the market to its eighth straight daily loss.

Price were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Max Ross Quits At Marion Catholic

MARION, Ohio (AP)—Max Ross, who guided Marion Catholic to two straight unbeaten seasons in 1965 and 1966 announced his resignation Thursday as athletic director and head football coach.

Ross said he has no definite plans but will not continue in football or coaching.

Marion Catholic was The Associated Press' Class AA state champion last year. Ross showed a 55-14-3 record at the school in eight year and this year's team has a 5-3-1 mark.

Under Ross' leadership, Catholic won four consecutive Mid Ohio Conference titles.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning noon Friday.

Wallace Tour Draws Good Akron Crowd

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Conservative George C. Wallace takes his campaign for presidential nomination to Toledo today after a mostly friendly reception in Akron.

The former governor of Alabama is on a seven-day, six-city tour of Ohio testing support for a larger campaign if he becomes a candidate for president.

A crowd of perhaps 1,500 persons turned out in freezing weather for his 30-minute speech at the National Guard Armory Wednesday night. About 50 persons carried anti-Wallace signs and picketed in front of the armory before the speech. They put aside their signs and went into the armory for Wallace's talk.

Mimeographed slips of paper were passed out to the audience soliciting support for a nominating petition.

Petitions needed to have Wallace listed on Ohio ballots would require about 444,000 valid signatures—15 per cent of the total number of votes cast for governor in the last general election.

The Wallace schedule calls for speeches at Cleveland on Friday, Dayton next Monday, Columbus Tuesday and Cincinnati on Wednesday.

Draft Order Hits Students

WASHINGTON (AP)—Draft chief Lewis B. Hershey says the White House knew in advance of his order that local draft boards revoke deferments of college students who won't carry their draft cards or who interfere with campus military recruiting.

"It's hard not to confer with the White House," the Selective Service director added. Hershey is directly responsible to President Johnson and reports directly other than through intermediaries.

Hershey said the Oct. 26 order, issued five days after a mass protest at the Pentagon, wouldn't apply to students peacefully protesting the draft or the Vietnam war but only to those who violate a law enacted earlier this year.

The law, spurred in Congress by demonstrations where draft cards were burned, provides maximum penalties of a five-year prison term and $10,000 fine for persons who illegally interfere with the draft law or regulations issued under it.

Charles Hill Pleads Guilty Of Theft

Charles Hill, 52, of 331 W. Huston St., pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Wednesday to charges of stealing property valued at $13.64 from the Kroger Store.

Judge Sterling Lamb fined Hill $50 plus costs and sentenced him to 30 days in jail. The jail sentence was suspended, but he is to remain on probation for one year.

cans were killed and 793 wounded in the seven day period ending Saturday, while 1,894 enemy were killed.

South Vietnamese casualties last week were 160 killed, 533 wounded and 60 missing, the government said. The week before 166 Americans, 1,628 enemy and 220 South Vietnamese were reported killed.

In fighting Wednesday night near Dak To, two companies from the U.S. 4th Infantry Division stood off a three-pronged ground, mortar and rocket attack and drove the Communists off with the aid of a massive bombardment by artillery, tactical fighter-bombers and giant B52s, headquarters reported.

Officers said they counted 102 North Vietnamese dead on the battlefield, while American casualties were six dead and 15 wounded.

American intelligence reports indicate that as many as five or six North Vietnamese regiments are strung out in the region, possibly poised for a new attempt to drive across the center of South Vietnam. U.S. infantrymen have been sweeping the area to break up any developing offensive now that the monsoon rains have moved north.

Weather forecasters said Typhoon Freda, heading toward South Vietnam's midsection with winds of 75 miles an hour, would affect military operations over a wide part of the country. The typhoon was expected to hit early Friday about 120 miles north of Saigon at Nha Trang.

Officials of industry and municipalities in the Scioto River basin met in Circleville Wednesday to discuss water quality standards of the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board.

The meeting was chairmaned by Ervin Leist, Circleville public utilities director.

There were representatives from Du Pont and Mead, Container Corporation and Good-year Atomic as well as officials from Columbus, Circleville, Chillicothe and Portsmouth at the meeting.

The group discussed a public hearing concerning pollution standards of the Scioto River Basin slated Nov. 29 in Columbus.

A steering committee was formed yesterday with W. C. Mathews, a representative of the Mead Corporation appointed as chairman.

OMVI, No License Charges Filed Against Woman

Lucille B. Howell, 1960 Chevrolet Drive, pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Wednesday to charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicants, driving without a license and leaving the scene of an accident.

Judge Sterling Lamb sentenced her to three days in jail and a fine of $150 plus costs on the first charge, $30 plus costs on the second charge, and $100 plus costs for leaving the scene of an accident.

Sixty-five dollars of the total fine was suspended.

Today in Washington

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson plans a multistop tour of the nation this weekend visiting military bases in observance of Veterans Day.

It will be the President's first multistop trip since he campaigned for Democratic congressional candidates in October 1966.

George Christian, White House press secretary, indicated Johnson would visit troops at Army, Air Force and Navy installations and may also stop at Marine and Coast Guard bases.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House is getting a replica of a portrait of former first lady Bess Truman and efforts are being made to get portraits of Presidents John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson and their wives.

John Walker, director of the National Gallery, and a member of the White House Historical Association, which now contracts for such portraits, announced a portrait currently being painted of the late President Kennedy by artist Gardner Cox of Boston will be ready soon, probably by the end of the year.

He said he hoped to get Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and the Johnsons to have their portraits done also.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House facing a shortage of china because of larger banquets for foreign heads of state, has announced it is ordering its first full set of dishes in more than 16 years.

The new china, with 216 place settings, will have a wildflower theme at the suggestion of beautification-minded first lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson. It will be manufactured by Castleton China, Inc., of New York City.

Tiffany and Co., of New York City has been selected to design the china. The state flower of every state in the Union will be on one of the dessert plates.

The White House Historical Association will foot the bill for the new china. "It will be expensive," said Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, the first lady's press secretary.

What People Like

Broadcasts of feature films swept four of the top 10 spots in the season's first of the bi-weekly rating reports of the public's television viewing when all three networks were showing new programs.

The networks have traditionally put great store in the ratings, and have planned most programming on the basis of them.

It ought to be apparent that these plans have some shortcomings. Perhaps even the mainstay of the networks — the average TV viewer — is getting sick of the same old recipe. Why settle for an imitation of an old show when you can see the real thing?

It is doubtful, but maybe the networks will get the message and put on some different shows. Perhaps more specials exploring art, music, drama, science and fashion.

As well as continuation of the good old movies.

According to Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

American teen-agers are in the big money. They now spend $18 billion a year. Older teen-agers — the 16-to-19 age groups — have an average of $17 a week to spend from their own earnings and parental allowances.

It has been found that a woman ironing uses up more energy than a bricklayer does on the job. This will surprise no woman.

What will you name the baby if it's a boy? The most popular male names at the turn of the century were, in order, John, William, Charles, George, Joseph, Edward, James, Louis, Francis and Smauel. Top favorites today are Michael, John, Robert, David, Stephen, Anthony, William, Joseph, Thomas and Christopher.

Starvation diets, under strict supervision, are the most effective way to lose weight, an international medical convention in Switzerland was told recently. With or without supervision, this has always been true. It is estimated that more than half of the entire population of the world still suffers from hunger or malnutrition, or both.

Do you see your dentist at least twice a year? Only a fraction of the American population does. One-third of the nation never—or almost never—goes to a dentist.

Quotable notables: "You will find that at the times when life becomes most real, in the great times of life, almost every man or woman becomes a poet at heart, as when in love or in the moments of great loss or bereavement."—John Hall Wheelock.

Tip to bachelorettes: If you're looking for a husband, girls, you'll probably do better in Massachusetts than Manhattan. Last year was the third biggest bumper crop of marriages—1,854,000—in U.S. history. But the number of weddings in New York City fell off 7 per cent from the year before, whereas in Massachusetts it rose by 14 per cent.

In focus: Posterity won't have to wonder what we looked like, no matter how much it may wonder at what we did with our lives. More than 50 million U.S. families own one or more cameras.

Worth remembering: "The world isn't really any worse. It's just that the news coverage is so much better."—Farmers' Almanac.

History lesson: Can you identify the U.S. presidents who bore the following nicknames: "Cincinnatus of the West," "People's President," "The Tanner President," "Old Veto," and Schoolmaster in Politics? Embarrassment for LBJ

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The news that the Department of Justice has a big trust-busting case worked up against General Motors has been described as an "embarrassment" to President Lyndon Johnson, who is trying to hold the remnants of his business support together. And because of LBJ's campaign needs, the realists in Washington doubt that the proposed suit to fragmentize GM will ever reach court. If it does, it might entail a double irony. For legal action to dissolve GM would not only embarrass Johnson, it would also put the Republicans' George Romney on the spot. After all, Romney was one of the most vocal of the "break up General Motors" people in the days when he headed the American Motors Company.

Romney coupled his advocacy of a GM dissolution with a recommendation that Walter Reuther's United Automobile Workers be fragmented, too. No doubt the Michigan Governor still retains his convictions about the need for smaller, more competitive units on both sides of the labor-management fence throughout the world of automobile production. But he hasn't had to talk about anti-trust needs recently, for they haven't been an issue.

If the Department of Justice ever did start its proposed suit, it would have to be taken seriously. For recent Supreme Court decisions make it plain that vulnerability does not protect a merger. Nor does a President or Presidential aspirant's attitude necessarily have much to do with the case one way or the other. The Du Ponts, it may be remembered, supported Eisenhower over Bob Taft for the Presidential nomination in 1952 in hopes that it might help them hang on to their General Motors stock interest, which had been acquired before 1929. But whatever his personal feelings might have been, Eisenhower did not stand in the way of the suit that subsequently led to the Supreme Court's 1957 decision which forced Du Pont to get out of GM.

Whether it would improve competition if GM were to be split into its component companies Chevrolet, Cadillac, Buick, and so on is a different question. It is not the fact that the Chevrolet GM division is allied to Pontiac and Cadillac that is acutely bothersome to Ford, Chrysler and American Motors. The real trouble is that Chevrolet, taken by itself, is almost half of GM. Even if it were split off from the corporate GM body, Chevrolet would still have a huge jump on its competitors in the smaller car price range. Chrysler's Plymouths and Dodges would still be up against the far more numerous Chevrolet Impalas, Bel Airs, and Biscaynes, and the GM Chevrolet division would still have an advantage in the so-called "economies of scale."

Breaking up GM would, of course, make it somewhat more difficult for its car producing components to get the advantages of GM corporate finance and centralized research, and parts might cost more if they had to be purchased from independent parts companies. But the probability that the costs to the car consumer might actually rise if GM were to be fragmented is hardly a good anti-trust argument. The purpose of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust legislation was to protect the consumer, not to rob him of some of his purchasing power.

Our whole automotive history goes to disprove the old Brandeis contention that smallness helps competition. The first Henry Ford couldn't lower his unit car price and raise his wages until his assembly lines had vastly expanded their runs. It is not until "standard volume" is reached that high wages and low price are justified. The rule of mass production is: the bigger the operation, the less the likelihood of price gouging. A year ago Chrysler and Ford raised car prices. But when GM didn't follow suit, Chrysler and Ford had to cut their prices back. If GM had gone along with Ford and Chrysler, the sales of Volkswagens in the U. S. would have certainly increased. We are going to get competition no matter what.

If GM were to be broken up, Chevrolet, Buick, and Cadillac would still thrive. But finance and research costs would almost certainly rise, and the foreigner — Volkswagen, Toyota, Etc. — would begin to pick up sales through his own competitive economies of scale. Would that help Chrysler and American Motors? Unless it can prove the affirmative, the Department of Justice had better leave well enough alone.

THE PROUD OWNER of an impeccably bred boxer puppy tried manfully to teach him to "speak" for his food. The master would hold a biscuit or piece of beef just out of reach of the pup and tantalize him therewith until he barked. For days he repeated the experiment, but the contrary pup wouldn't bark once.

One day, in a hurry, he decided "the heck with it" and set the boxer's food on the floor without further ado. That's when he got his real surprise. The pup wouldn't touch it until his master barked!

A fabulously successful German-American banker always reminded his sons (destined to be even more famous and successful than he was), "To sell something you have to someone who wants it—that's not salesmanship. HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The comeback of the original screenplay is predicted and devoutly hoped for by George Axelrod, an experienced practitioner of that now rare art form. For the outsider, it should be explained that films are derived from two sources: previously written material, such as plays, novels, television shows, comic strips etc.; and original screenplays written expressly for the film medium.

Axelrod is a veteran of both adaptations, "The Seven Year Itch," "Bus Stop," "The Manchurian Candidate" and originals, "Phift," "How to Murder Your Wife." Right now he is producing and directing his own original screenplay of "The Female Mistake," starring Walter Matthau and Anne Jackson.

"Actually I could have done this first as a play, since it would fit comfortably into two acts," said Axelrod, a cherubic 45. "But by the time I had gone through the process of putting it on the stage, I would have been too tired of it to film the movie."

"So I'm writing it on film instead. The camera is a marvelous typewriter; you can use faces instead of words."

Axelrod hopes that other writers will follow his course and aim their works directly at the screen, instead of fashioning plays or novels first.

"The original screenplay was once a fine institution," he observed. "All the great screwball comedies of the 1930s were originals."

"But after the war producers began to shy away from originals. Because of the greatly increased cost of making films, they wanted pre-old properties — that is, novels and plays that had already been tested on the public. Also, the studios no longer had those vast reservoirs of writing talent to turn out originals."

European film makers have not been so restricted. They have relied more on originals than on adaptations; the results can be seen in the Motion Picture Academy's nominations for best original screenplay, which have been dominated by Europeans in recent years.

Axelrod sees the tide turning with such recent originals as "Bonnie and Clyde" and "Thoroughly Modern Millie." They are still difficult to sell to the studios, he admitted, but that feat can be worked by typing up a star to go with the package, or by being a hyphenate. In Hollywood parlance a hyphenate is a multifunctional creator like Axelrod, writer-director-producer.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — While the House of Representatives has erected a dam of determination against President Johnson's tax increase proposal, its counterpart in the Senate have opened the flood gates.

As it stands now, the President's request for higher income taxes has been buried in the House. But the Senate, paradoxically, hopes to raise Social Security taxes even more than the President requested.

This situation appears to say that members of Congress may be willing to see their constituents taxed for a specific purpose but not for the general purpose of supporting the administration's spending plans.

Ironically, the people in the lower income brackets would be taxed the most, relatively, if the Senate Social Security bill finds sympathy in the House and is enacted.

If it is passed, and if the nation continues to have inflation at the rate of more than 3 per cent a year, then most Americans are going to find themselves paying out nearly as much as they would through an income tax increase.

The Social Security bill seeks an increase in the tax on incomes from 4.4 per cent to 5 per cent, to apply not just to the first $6,600 earned, as under the present law, but to the first $8,800.

This means that the maximum amount to be deducted for Social Security would jump from $290.40 to $440 a whopping $149.60 advance and considerably more than the President had requested.

Now compare this with the additional money that would be paid out under the Johnson income tax proposal, which seeks a 10 per cent surtax on corporate and personal incomes.

In sending his proposal to Congress last August, Johnson said that a family of four with an income of $10,000 would pay "at most" an added tax of $9.25 a month. This comes to only $111 a year. For many it would be less.

"For three out of every four American families, the burden of this increase will be between a few cents and $9 a month," the President said. The increase in Social Security taxes would average more than $12.

The Senate, therefore, through approval of a bill that would draw billions of dollars out of the economy, would bring about much of the restraint that the President has failed to extract from the House. The Senate action, however, would tax many who can little afford to pay increases. The person earning $10,000, for example, would pay no more than the worker earning $8,800.

The problems of those in the lower income brackets don't stop there, for another tax is hidden in the maze of present government fiscal policy. This is the tax of inflation.

Commonly, inflation is not known as a tax, but only because it works clandestinely. Inflation seldom is very obvious until it reaches runaway proportions. It is a sneak thief or, using Johnson's term, it is a pick-pocket. It is presently taking 2.1 per cent of your dollar.

If, for example, you have $1,000 in the bank at 4.75 per cent interest, your deposit will earn $47.50 a year. But if prices are rising at the rate of 2.1 per cent a year, that $47.50 is reduced to $16.50.

It seems, therefore, that American consumers are going to be paying out more of their salaries next year regardless of what Congress does.

If Social Security taxes are raised the strain on pocketbooks will show. If income taxes also are raised the strain will become a real burden. If inflation persists, as it is likely to, the strain becomes painful.

These painful prospect perhaps explain the unusual behavior of the administration and of Congress. They very likely explain also why the American consumer has been guarding his money so closely this year.

NEW YORK (AP) — A rare treat will come along on NBC Television Wednesday—a musical adaptation of George Bernard Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion." The music was written by Richard Rodgers.

The 90-minute program sounds so delightful, in fact, that it arouses suspicions. After what happened to "My Fair Lady," the musical adaptation of Shaw's "Pygmalion," on the stage and motion pictures, how come television is getting first crack at a similar project?

Mark Merson, an independent packager and producer, said that it just happened to work out that way. He was looking, he said, for a classic to adapt for TV, and remembered the Shaw play which he saw when he was nine and in which Eva Le Gallienne and Ernest Truex starred.

He sought permission to use the play, written in 1913, from the late playwright's representatives, the Society of Authors, in England.

"They turned out to be a marvelous bunch of old ladies working in a headquarters on the outskirts of London, and they act like watchdogs on Shaw's work," Merson said. "They liked the idea and sent me on to negotiate a deal with Shaw's executors. And they work with a literary critic—identity unknown—and part of the deal is script approval."

Merson then approached Richard Rodgers. The composer "read the play one night and the next day said he wanted to do it." At this point Merson took his idea to NBC and the network snapped it up.

The show was taped last August, 18 months almost to a day from the time Merson started to work on it. The production cost close to $500,000 and stars Norman Wisdom, Ed Ames, Noel Coward and Inga Swenson. NBC underwrote the production and has rerun rights, but Merson and Rodgers share rights to use the property in other theatrical areas.

Bob Hope and company had a bad night Wednesday with a ragged script which contained scarcely a chuckle. There was a roster of top-drawer comedians, from Rowan and Martin to Danny Thomas who were all but tripping over each other and the stage was also filled with horses and even a camel. Hope's monologue at the opening was below his normal standard.

Even Hope, the Satchel Paige of comedy, can't be expected to win them all.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I had an infection of the hip for which I was hospitalized for many months. A special tube was placed in my hip and through it I was given one of the "mycin" drugs for about a month. After a few weeks I noticed that my hearing was going bad. Now I can barely hear at all. The doctor says it was all due to the drug. If they are so dangerous why are they given? Is it possible to tell beforehand that such a terrible thing can happen?

Mrs. H. L., Texas
Dear Mrs. L.: This is indeed an unhappy story. All of the remarkable advantages of the "miracle" antibiotics are well-established for the treatment and cure of diseases that would have taken the lives of millions of people. For this we are grateful.

Unfortunately, one or two of the highly specialized "mycin" drugs have a peculiar toxic effect on the auditory nerve responsible for our hearing. This happens rarely but when it does, as in your case, it can sometimes produce profound deafness. You may wonder why this drug was chosen when oto-toxicity (toxic to the inner ear) is known to occur, even if infrequently. Apparently, the severity of the infection in your hip left your doctors no choice but to use this drug.

When such a drug is being used doctors carefully observe their patients for the earliest possible evidence of ear disturbances so they can discontinue its use and prevent the tragedy of deafness. It must be emphasized to all of our readers that this toxic tendency is not present with all of the "mycin" drugs and that they should have no fear of following their doctor's prescription for their use.

My husband has become a pigeon fancier and flies them from our rooftop. It may be a coincidence, but from the day he bought them I have been coughing. Is it possible to be allergic to them? I don't smoke and have no other illnesses.

Mrs. L. E. Massachusetts
Dear Mrs. E.: I don't suppos-

that raising pigeons can be used as a basis for divorce. But if one is allergic to them, as you seem to be, perhaps some pressure can be made to cease and desist. The old axiom "for some people they sing" must be extended to "for some people they cause coughs."

Actually, there are many people who are allergic to the danger and the exertions of these birds and frequently develop chronic bronchitis and asthma. Exposure to pigeons may be responsible for long-standing and severe irritations and infections of the lungs.

A strange yeast-like fungus, the cryptococcus, has been found in diseased pigeons in various parts of the world and in many areas of the United States. This fungus causes very serious effects in man. Not only the lungs but all other organs of the body can be affected if this fungus invades the human body.

If you have been able to trace a casual relationship between the time your husband began to fly pigeons and the onset of your cough, the chances are good that a relationship exists. A skin patch test can be performed to find out if you are allergic to the dirt and dust and excretions of pigeons. For your health's sake, the pigeons should be encouraged to fly in only one direction.

Increase the humidity in the house during winter weather with steam kettles and other appliances.

What People Like

Broadcasts of feature films swept four of the top 10 spots in the season's first of the bi-weekly rating reports of the public's television viewing when all three networks were showing new programs.

The networks have traditionally put great store in the ratings, and have planned most programming on the basis of them.

It ought to be apparent that these plans have some shortcomings. Perhaps even the mainstay of the networks — the average TV viewer — is getting sick of the same old recipe. Why settle for an imitation of an old show when you can see the real thing?

It is doubtful, but maybe the networks will get the message and put on some different shows. Perhaps more specials exploring art, music, drama, science and fashion.

As well as continuation of the good old movies.

Find Loaded Gun On Prisoner

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Authorities searched the prisoner before taking him to a jail cell. What they found resulted in an addition of 90 days to his sentence of four years.

St. Louis police said when Willie Lee Brown, 25, St. Louis, was searched, they found a loaded pistol. Brown was hustled back to court and Judge William Buder added 90 days to the original sentence.

Brown had been sentenced earlier for stealing 10 bedspreads.

Embarrassment for LBJ

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The news that the Department of Justice has a big trust-busting case worked up against General Motors has been described as an "embarrassment" to President Lyndon Johnson, who is trying to hold the remnants of his business support together. And because of LBJ's campaign needs, the realists in Washington doubt that the proposed suit to fragmentize GM will ever reach court. If it does, it might entail a double irony. For legal action to dissolve GM would not only embarrass Johnson, it would also put the Republicans' George Romney on the spot. After all, Romney was one of the most vocal of the "break up General Motors" people in the days when he headed the American Motors Company.

Romney coupled his advocacy of a GM dissolution with a recommendation that Walter Reuther's United Automobile Workers be fragmented, too. No doubt the Michigan Governor still retains his convictions about the need for smaller, more competitive units on both sides of the labor-management fence throughout the world of automobile production. But he hasn't had to talk about anti-trust needs recently, for they haven't been an issue.

If the Department of Justice ever did start its proposed suit it would have to be taken seriously. For recent Supreme Court decisions make it plain that vulnerability does not protect a merger. Nor does a President or Presidential aspirant's attitude necessarily have much to do with the case one way or the other. The Du Ponts, it may be remembered, supported Eisenhower over Bob Taft for the Presidential nomination in 1952 in hopes that it might help them hang on to their General Motors stock interest, which had been acquired before 1920. But whatever his personal feelings might have been, Eisenhower did not stand in the way of the suit that subsequently led to the Supreme Court's 1957 decision which forced Du Pont to get out of GM.

Whether it would improve competition if GM were to be split into its component companies Chevrolet, Cadillac, Buick, and so on) is a different question. It is not the fact that the Chevrolet GM division is allied to Pontiac and Cadillac that is acutely bothersome to Ford, Chrysler and American Motors. The real trouble is that Chevrolet, taken by itself, is almost half of GM. Even if it were split off from the corporate GM body, Chevrolet would still have a huge jump on its competitors in the smaller car price range. Chrysler's Plymouths and Dodges would still be up against the far more numerous Chevrolet Impalas, Bel Airs, and Biscaynes, and the GM Chevrolet division would still have an advantage in the so-called "economies of scale."

Breaking up GM would, of course, make it somewhat more difficult for its car producing components to get the advantages of GM corporate finance and centralized research, and parts might cost more if they had to be purchased from independent parts companies. But the probability that the costs to the car consumer might actually rise if GM were to be fragmented is hardly a good anti-trust argument. The purpose of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust legislation was to protect the consumer, not to rob him of some of his purchasing power.

Our whole automotive history goes to disprove the old Brandeisian contention that smallness helps competition. The first Henry Ford couldn't lower his unit car price and raise his wages until his assembly lines had vastly expanded their runs. It is not until "standard volume" is reached that high wages and low price are justified. The rule of mass production is: the bigger the operation, the less the likelihood of price gouging. A year ago Chrysler and Ford raised car prices. But when GM didn't follow suit, Chrysler and Ford had to cut their prices back. If GM had gone along with Ford and Chrysler, the sales of Volkswagens in the U. S. would have certainly increased. We are going to get competition no matter what.

If GM were to be broken up, Chevrolet, Buick, and Cadillac would still thrive. But finance and research costs would almost certainly rise, and the foreigner — Volkswagen, Toyota, etc. — would begin to pick up sales through his own competitive economies of scale. Would that help Chrysler and American Motors? Unless it can prove the affirmative, the Department of Justice had better leave well enough alone.

Circleville Garden Club Holds Dinner Meeting

A Thanksgiving theme was featured in the table arrangements for the Circleville Garden Club dinner meeting at the Wardell Party Home.

One arrangement by Mrs. Donald H. Watt was of treated red oak leaves, love apples and hand carved wooden birds from Sweden in a dried swan gourd container. The other was made by William Cook and featured a base of small gourds in circular design with yellow mums, salmon snapdragons and small birds.

Mrs. Donald H. Watt, president, welcomed the members and guests and conducted a short business session. William Cook reported on the Fairground planting.

Announcement was made of the fall meeting of Region 9, Ohio Association of Garden Clubs to be held Friday, Nov. 17, at the Stoney Creek Country Club, South of Reynoldsburg on State Route 256, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., with registration at 9:30 a.m. Reservations must be in by Monday, Nov. 13. Nelson Morris of Sunny Brook Gardens in Reynoldsburg will speak in the afternoon session on "The Growing of Orchids and Tropical Plants in the Home".

Steve Cress a student at OSU, majoring the study of natural resources of the state will speak to the group during the morning session. Reservations may be sent to Mrs. Jessie Wolfe, 7185 Blacklick Eastern Rd. Pickerington, 43147.

Mrs. George M. Meyers, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Edward Thomas, well known naturalist and columnist. Mr. Thomas was the Curator of Natural History of Ohio State Museum for a number of years, an ex-president of the Wheaton Club and member of the Brooks Bird Club. His topic was "Adventures with Ohio Birds and their Migratory Habits."

He illustrated his lecture with colored slides taken during his many field trips and from observations at feeder stations at his home. He and his wife have banded many birds to determine their migratory habits, and found many of the same birds return to these stations after nesting in the Arctic Circle or from wintering in the south. One blue jay traveled thousands of miles in the five ensuing years between the Arctic Circle and the Thomas' feeding station in Columbus. Another Robin returned to their station for seven years straight after wintering in the south at the same feeder station for the same number of

Train Crash Fatal to 14

SALERNO, Italy (AP) — The Milan-to-Palermo express tore through a wandering herd of buffalo and then into a derailed commuter train today and at least 14 passengers were killed and about 70 injured.

It was the third and worst fatal train crash in Italy in little more than two weeks and came just four days after 51 persons were killed when a train jumped its tracks in London.

Fifteen of the 31 cars in the two trains ran off the tracks. Some of them tumbling down a bank and into a field in the darkness just before dawn.

Mutilated carcasses of the buffalo herd—approximately 50 head—stained a half-mile stretch of rails along Italy's southwest coast 36 miles south of Naples.

The buffalo were of a domesticated type found mostly in Italy and Hungary, raised mainly as work animals.

Cardinal Quits; Sets Leper Work

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Paul Emile Cardinal Leger one of the leading progressives in the Roman Catholic hierarchy, has resigned as archbishop of Montreal to do missionary work among lepers in foreign lands and Pope Paul VI has accepted his resignation.

The announcement by the Vatican today caused some surprise in church circles, since Cardinal Leger at 63 is 12 years below the retirement age for diocesan prelates and his post is an important one.

But Cardinal Leger for a long time has been urging the pontiff to release him from his post. It was believed the Pope's decision was delayed until after the bishops' synod last month.

Another North American cardinal, Archbishop Richard Cushing of Boston, has also long desired to leave his post to do missionary work in Latin America. But Cardinal Cushing is 72 and in frail health, and the Pope has not given his approval.

The Vatican also announced that the Pope's doctors are still giving him antibiotics to combat the slight fever he has been running for three days.

A midday medical bulletin also indicated that the doctors have started removing stitches from the incision made for the Pope's prostate operation.

Mrs. Kennedy Is Tired Out

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy passed up the sights of Bangkok today, pleading fatigue from her travels in Cambodia, and rested for the royal dinner being given in her honor tonight by King Bhumibol and Queen Sirikit.

Mrs. Kennedy's host Wednesday night, Thai Premier Thanom Kittikachorn, was told she had an upset stomach and hastily added American-style food as an alternative to the spicy Thai curries.

But Charles Bartlett, the Washington newsman who is a member of Mrs. Kennedy's party, said today she is not ill.

"She's just tired from all the travel. We really worked touring those temples at Angkor," he said.

Ohio Establishes Trade Office

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Ohio has established a trade office here to expand the sale of Buckeye State products in Central and South America.

The announcement was made Wednesday by a spokesman for Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes, who is leading a trade mission through the southern hemisphere.

Ohio To Build Covered Bridge

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Highway Department announced Wednesday the proposed construction of the state's first covered bridge in 47 years.

The bridge, costing $131,000, will span the Mohican River, in the Mohican Forest area of Ashland County.

Ashville's New Phone Exchange Nears Completion

Work on a new $300,000 telephone exchange for Ashville is nearing completion and set to be activated Dec. 3, General Telephone Co. of Ohio announced today.

Keith Wagner, Circleville commercial manager, said new switching equipment is situated in a new masonry and brick building. The equipment is wired for 1,000 customer lines with terminals for 1,600 phone numbers.

All new phone numbers have been assigned customers and will take effect Dec. 3. The new numbers are listed in the 1967 Circleville directory, but numbers in the 1966 directory are to be used in the meantime.

The manager said the new equipment will require dialing all seven digits of phone numbers. Also, the sound of the dial tone will change slightly.

Final testing of the new equipment is in progress and will continue up to the change-over time at 2:01 a.m. Dec. 3.

Wooster Crashes Kill 3 Persons

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — An elderly couple was killed in a two-car collision northeast of here Wednesday night and a teen-age motorcyclist died in this city's first traffic fatality since February.

Fred Ramsey, 73, and his wife, Mabel, 70, of Smithville were killed when a car in which they were passengers was struck broadside at an intersection of a county road and Ohio 57 about 10 miles northeast of here.

In the motorcycle accident, Stuart Koons, 17, of Wooster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Koons, struck a utility pole support wire when he lost control of his motorcycle and ran off a city street.

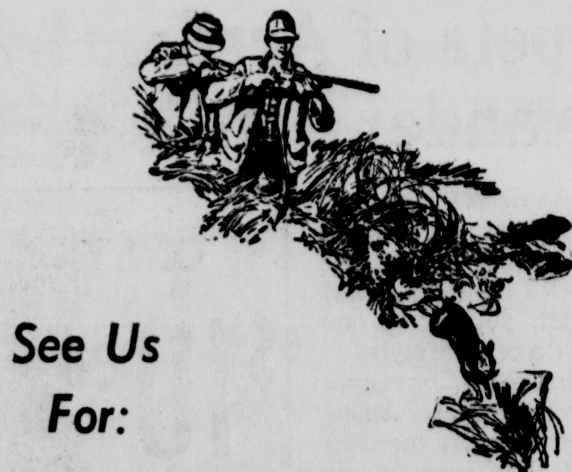

Guards May Strike

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — A wage offer was rejected Wednesday night by guards at the Plum Brook facility of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, raising the possibility of a strike.

White Backlash, Viet War to Mark '68 Election

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats and Republicans both claim comfort in the outcome of Tuesday's off-year elections—balloting which provided answer but also opened new questions about the mood of the electorate one year before the contest for the White House.

Chief among the questions was the 1968 potency of the so-called white backlash vote, defeated—but by tiny margins—with the election of Negro mayors in Cleveland and in Gary, Ind.

Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey said those victories for Negro Democrats, coupled with Boston's rejection of the controversial Louise Day Hicks, "put the so-called white backlash in its place."

That place did not appear an insignificant one—particularly with the approach of statewide elections in which big-city pluralities often are the decisive factor.

Another item for the political strategists: The potential impact next year of the war in Vietnam. San Francisco voters rejected a proposal urging a cease-fire and U.S. withdrawal and President Johnson's Democratic supporter called it evil.

dence of growing support for his policy.

Republicans, on the other hand, raised the war issue in Kentucky and New Jersey and scored big victories.

Republican Sens. Thurston B. Morton and John Sherman Cooper said opposition to Johnson's stand contributed to the election of Louis B. Nunn as Kentucky's first GOP governor in two decades. New Jersey Republicans, who won control of the state legislature, said the same thing.

Negro Democrat Carl B. Stokes was elected mayor of Cleveland with 129,829 votes to 127,328 for his white, Republican opponent, Seth C. Taft.

Cleveland's voter registration is Democratic by a 10 to 1 margin. Stokes got virtually all the Cleveland Negro vote and about 20 per cent of the white ballots.

Ray C. Bliss Republican national chairman, boasted of sharp reductions in Democratic majorities in some big cities, noting that the last GOP nominee in Cleveland got only 17 per cent of the vote. But that party-line analysis ignored the racial factor.

Stokes could become a featured Democratic performer, particularly in Negro areas, during the 1968 election campaign. And Cleveland could be crucial in determining which party wins Ohio's electoral votes.

In Gary, Negro Richard G. Hatcher won by 1,389 votes, but his Republican rival, Joseph Radigan challenged the victory with charges of voting irregularities.

Kevin H. White Massachusetts secretary of state, was elected mayor of Boston by 102,551 votes to 90,122 for Mr. Hicks in another close contest marked by racial dispute.

Man Notes 92nd Birthday in Jail

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Charles Evans of Ripley observed his 92nd birthday today—in jail.

A little less than five years ago Evans was placed on probation for five years on a charge of performing an illegal abortion.

He was taken into custody on a charge of probation violation after Brown County authorities learned a 24-year-old woman was in the Brown County Hospital after an abortion. Officers said they were told Evans had performed the operation.

Sertoma Plans Service Award

The Circleville Sertoma Club will again sponsor the Service to Mankind award this year it was announced today by Roger Bennington, chairman of the event.

"The contest is held to recognize an outstanding citizen of Pickaway County for his or her humanitarian, heroic, civic or other type of service to this community or nation," Bennington said.

Nominations can be made by letter, outlining the outstanding service, to Circleville Sertoma Club, PO Box 168, Circleville, before Dec. 15.

This area's service to mankind award will then enter district and international competition for the international service to mankind award to be presented at Sertoma's International Convention in Miami Beach, Fla., June, 1968.

Theater Tour Is Scheduled

Circleville area residents are being invited to participate in a special New York Theater Tour sponsored by the Arlington Travel Service, Columbus.

Dates for the weekend tour are Nov. 30, to Dec. 3. Special rates of $125 per person have been established.

The tour, which leaves on Thursday via TWA jet, includes round trip transportation, transfers between airport and hotel, three nights in the Manhattan Hotel, luggage, tips, orchestra seats for three Broadway shows and services of an escort.

Shows to be seen are three of the top ones now playing on Broadway: "Cabaret," "Mame" and "Illya Darling."

Timing of the trip has been arranged so that members will be in New York for shopping when the stores are decorated for the holiday season.

Further information and reservations may be made by calling (no charge) Enterprize 2955, Columbus.

Ohio's New Traffic Laws

EDITORS NOTE — This is one of a series, by The Ohio Department of Highway Safety, on new traffic laws passed by the 107th General Assembly.

Motorcycle operators, after January 1, 1969, must have a special license.

Until that time motorcyclists may operate under the regular motor vehicle driver's license, but in 1969 the special permit is necessary.

If the cyclist has no automobile driver's license, he must obtain a restricted motorcycle license costing $4 for three years.

If he has an auto driver's license, his motorcycle permit may be added as an endorsement to it, also at a cost of $4 for three years.

The new law prohibits handlebars or grips more than 15 inches higher than the saddle; requires that both operators and passengers wear helmets and eye protectors approved by the director of highway safety; and demands that all motorcycles be equipped with rear-view mirrors and effective mufflers containing baffle plates.

Devices for producing excessive smoke or gas, and any equipment which permits oil or any other chemical to flow upon the exhaust pipe or muffler, are prohibited, as are muffler cutouts or bypasses which allow excessive noise.

Applicants for motorcycle operator license must give an actual demonstration of their ability to exercise ordinary and reasonable control in the operation of the cycle by driving it under the supervision of an examining officer.

They must also pass tests on physical condition, understanding of traffic control devices, and knowledge of motor vehicle laws.

Federal Agents Study Gary Vote

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Mayor-elect Richard G. Hatcher began planning today for his "multiracial" administration while FBI agents investigated alleged irregularities in the mayoral election.

The Justice Department confirmed that federal agents were probing reports of fraudulent voting in Tuesday's election which gave the Negro Democrat a 1,389-vote victory over white Republican Joseph B. Radigan.

James F. Turner of the department's civil rights division, said no court action was planned, pending outcome of the investigation.

Radigan said irregularities were reported and he would ask attorneys "to assist me in reporting these irregularities to federal and state court." He did not say whether he would seek a recount, and he still has not conceded defeat.

Man Murders Wife, Turns Gun on Self

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Three of Joel V. Turnbow's 14 children saw him kill their mother and then end his own life with a shot in the head Wednesday.

It was the grim climax to one of many quarrels between the unemployed trucker, 45, and his ex-wife Marie, 42, who had divorced him March 3.

Nine of their children still lived with the mother, and her death raised a question of where they will find a home. Before the day was over, however, there was talk of keeping them together.

Nita Turnbow, 20, and two sisters still too young for school—Tina, 5, and Cindy, 4—were among the shocked witnesses to the shootings.

They saw Mrs. Turnbow run outside the East Fort Worth home during an argument which developed an hour after the trucker arrived in the forenoon.

Turnbow caught his former wife in a neighbor's yard, threw her to the ground and shot her three times with a .22-caliber pistol, Nita told Detective W.T. Eary. Then Turnbow fired a bullet into his brain.

A medical examiner entered a verdict of murder and suicide.

Nita said her mother tried to telephone for police but was unable to make the call because the lines had been cut.

"He always told mother, 'I'll kill you and myself if you get a divorce,'" related Dora Morgan, one of the couple's older daughters.

Mrs. Morgan said a family council will be held as soon as all can get together and they will decide what to do about her younger brothers and sisters.

Besides Nina, Tina and Cindy, those still living at home are Linda, 16; Robert, 14; Theresa, 12; Gary, 11; Valery, 8, and Mike, 6.

Half Hearted Play Suffers in Staging

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic
NEW YORK (AP)—Another Dad goes hippy in "Halfway Up the Tree" a half-hearted comic product from the prolific pen of Peter Ustinov which opened Tuesday night at the Atkinson theater.

Besides going over a plot idea done several times already this Broadway season, the play suffers from sudden attacks of pomposity and the author's stilted staging.

Anthony Quayle appears as a British general who comes home from four years amid the crumbling remnants of empire to find son and daughter have freaked out into the youth rebellion. Along the way they have respectively picked up a dubious bass-singing mistress and a pre-wedlock baby.

Admiring their emancipation but doubting their ability to stay free long, the old campaigner decides to go them one better. So, faithful to the title, he climbs into a leafy bower, which soon becomes an arboreal symbol of strained profundity.

Quayle's co-star, Eileen Herlie enacts a wife intent on preserving surreptitious marital infidelity with a degree of embarrassment that would seem to stem more from Ustinov's direction than his writing.

For reasons that must remain forever unclear to a spectator, he moves the cast around Ralph Alswang's papier mache living room as though they were playing musical chairs.

Quayle, whitened eyebrows wagging with genial paternal pomp, struggles valiantly in neo-Tarzan rags. In a similar situation, Paul Ford is doing a lot better up the block in "What Did We Do Wrong?"

The young set is represented

by Hanne Bork, Sam Waterson, Margaret Linn and John Tillinger.

As Miss Bork remarks early: "Being depressed has a value—it spoils, it to fight against it." Well worth remembering for the rest of the evening.

Man Murders Wife, Turns Gun on Self

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Three of Joel V. Turnbow's 14 children saw him kill their mother and then end his own life with a shot in the head Wednesday.

It was the grim climax to one of many quarrels between the unemployed trucker, 45, and his ex-wife Marie, 42, who had divorced him March 3.

Nine of their children still lived with the mother, and her death raised a question of where they will find a home. Before the day was over, however, there was talk of keeping them together.

Nita Turnbow, 20, and two sisters still too young for school—Tina, 5, and Cindy, 4—were among the shocked witnesses to the shootings.

They saw Mrs. Turnbow run outside the East Fort Worth home during an argument which developed an hour after the trucker arrived in the forenoon.

Turnbow caught his former wife in a neighbor's yard, threw her to the ground and shot her three times with a .22-caliber pistol, Nita told Detective W.T. Eary. Then Turnbow fired a bullet into his brain.

A medical examiner entered a verdict of murder and suicide.

Nita said her mother tried to telephone for police but was unable to make the call because the lines had been cut.

"He always told mother, 'I'll kill you and myself if you get a divorce,'" related Dora Morgan, one of the couple's older daughters.

Mrs. Morgan said a family council will be held as soon as all can get together and they will decide what to do about her younger brothers and sisters.

Besides Nina, Tina and Cindy, those still living at home are Linda, 16; Robert, 14; Theresa, 12; Gary, 11; Valery, 8, and Mike, 6.

Half Hearted Play Suffers in Staging

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic
NEW YORK (AP)—Another Dad goes hippy in "Halfway Up the Tree" a half-hearted comic product from the prolific pen of Peter Ustinov which opened Tuesday night at the Atkinson theater.

Besides going over a plot idea done several times already this Broadway season, the play suffers from sudden attacks of pomposity and the author's stilted staging.

Anthony Quayle appears as a British general who comes home from four years amid the crumbling remnants of empire to find son and daughter have freaked out into the youth rebellion. Along the way they have respectively picked up a dubious bass-singing mistress and a pre-wedlock baby.

Admiring their emancipation but doubting their ability to stay free long, the old campaigner decides to go them one better. So, faithful to the title, he climbs into a leafy bower, which soon becomes an arboreal symbol of strained profundity.

Quayle's co-star, Eileen Herlie enacts a wife intent on preserving surreptitious marital infidelity with a degree of embarrassment that would seem to stem more from Ustinov's direction than his writing.

For reasons that must remain forever unclear to a spectator, he moves the cast around Ralph Alswang's papier mache living room as though they were playing musical chairs.

Quayle, whitened eyebrows wagging with genial paternal pomp, struggles valiantly in neo-Tarzan rags. In a similar situation, Paul Ford is doing a lot better up the block in "What Did We Do Wrong?"

The young set is represented

by Hanne Bork, Sam Waterson, Margaret Linn and John Tillinger.

As Miss Bork remarks early: "Being depressed has a value—it spoils, it to fight against it." Well worth remembering for the rest of the evening.

Urges Fire Boxes Be Taken Out

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati fire marshal is convinced street corner fire alarm boxes should be eliminated.

Robert Welch, the marshal, has advocated taking the boxes out to cut down false alarms.

Welch was responding Wednesday to a call from an alarm box, and despite the fact he had his siren going and lights flashing, his cruiser was struck by a car driven by a teen-aged girl.

But he didn't have to worry about getting to where he was going—it was a false alarm.

World Hunger Weeks Start In County

Mrs. G. H. Niswender, 425 S. Washington St., has been named publicity chairman of "Combat World Hunger Weeks."

According to Mrs. Niswender, the campaign is being carried on in Pickaway County by various churches of the community. Persons not contacted may mail their contribution to the local treasurer, Mrs. Clarence Boyer, Route 1.

Governor James A. Rhodes has proclaimed "Combat World Hunger Weeks" for the period of November 5-26, 1967. The proclamation urges "our citizens to share in this program to provide the hungry people of the world an opportunity to help themselves."

The proclamation reminds Ohioans that "about two billion people of the world do not have enough to eat and the gap between those who have and those who do not have is widening."

The Governor's Proclamation also states that the Ohio Combat World Hunger campaign is assisting people by providing means for eliminating root causes of hunger through increasing agricultural production, water resources, literacy and vocational training, land reclamation and population control. State goal is for at least one-half million dollars.

Dr. B.R. Sen, Director-General of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the UN, said that time must be bought by population control on the one hand and by food aid from the rich nations on the other. There have been some encouraging developments in both fields, particularly by the increasing use of "self-help" provisions tied to food aid from the United States.

Funds for the Combat World Hunger Campaign are raised through house to house solicitation, mailings and offerings at Thanksgiving services.

Hussein Washington Visit Ends in Question Mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jordanian King Hussein's visit to Washington, which opened with hopes he might bear radical new Arab proposals for ending the Middle East crisis, ends in diplomatic puzzlement over what the Arabs really want.

The optimism in Washington's diplomatic circles was based on statements Hussein made in a New York interview last Sunday, among them that the Arabs are ready to recognize Israel's right "to live in peace and security."

Saying he spoke not just for Jordan but for the Arab world, Hussein stated that under certain conditions, the Arabs might recognize Israel's right to use the Strait of Tiran and the Suez Canal.

Hussein called this a "very tremendous change" in the Arab position, and the Johnson administration's experts agreed. But in two later public speeches in Washington, the king gave no hint of any policy change, tremendous or otherwise.

Hussein's statements to President Johnson during Wednesday evening White House talks remained a secret. Informed sources reported, however, that during his Monday conference with Secretary of State Dean Rusk the king failed to repeat the possible Arab concessions he mentioned in New York.

In his Tuesday speech before the National Press Club the king whet everybody's appetite by announcing he brought a "new and positive approach" to the Middle East problem, a message from Arab heads of state.

But the message turned out to be a generality: Arab desire to achieve "lasting peace."

Otherwise Hussein's speech contained only advice to Israel—that it should withdraw from the occupied territories, solve the 20-year-old refugee problem and behave in the future so as to gain acceptance by the Arabs as their neighbor.

Highly placed U.S. sources stress they don't doubt Hussein was sincere in presenting his "tremendous change" formula last Sunday and equally sincere in believing he had a mandate to speak for all Arabs. The question which puzzles experts is what happened after Hussein's New York performance.

Stokes Chooses 3 Top Officials

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Mayor-elect Carl B. Stokes picked Police Inspector Michael J. Blackwell Wednesday night to be his chief of police.

Stokes had said during his campaign that if elected he would replace Chief Richard Wagner.

Leaders in the Negro community have been critical of what they call poor police-community relations.

Stokes, Cleveland's first Negro mayor, said that he and Blackwell agreed with the "basic recommendations" of a controversial Little Hoover Commission report calling for more uniformed policemen on the streets and increased community relations efforts by the department.

The 64-year-old Blackwell has the reputation of being a tough, racket-busting policeman. For the past 10 years he has been in charge of the basic patrol.

Stokes called him "the man with the image, record and performance to meet the needs of fighting crime in the streets of Cleveland."

Wagner, 54, who was appointed to the job by outgoing mayor Ralph S. Locher four years ago, had said before Tuesday's election that he would resign, whoever won.

Blackwell was Stokes' third appointment. Shortly after he was announced as winner of the election he named attorney Joseph F. McManamon, a friend and former police sergeant, as safety director. James S. Carnes, a former assistant police prosecutor was picked by Stokes as chief police prosecutor. All three appointees are white.

Meanwhile, Republican Seth Taft has indicated that even though he congratulated Stokes Wednesday morning on his election he may still ask for a recount.

A statement from Taft headquarters Wednesday night said the GOP candidate would wait to see the official results of Tuesday's election before deciding whether to ask for a recount.

Stokes' margin of victory according to unofficial returns from the Board of Elections was a mere 2,501 votes out of a total vote of 257,157. He received 129,829 votes to 127,328 for Taft.

Negro Children Set Happy March

By JOHN W. CHACE
CINCINNATI (AP)— Nearly 600 Negro school children planned a six-block demonstration march here today to wish a police captain happy birthday.

The pupils from Ach Junior High School will carry signs and banners commemorating the birthday of Capt. Thomas Dixon and will parade to the Cincinnati District Court police station.

Gen. Norstad Urges Viet Cease Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Gen. Lauris Norstad, former NATO commander, proposes "serious consideration" of a Vietnam "ceasefire," even if it has to be unilateral.

He made the statement at a news conference Wednesday before he addressed a business outlook conference attended by some 1,000 Southern California business leaders.

The retired Air Force general, now president of Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corp., declined to endorse any specific proposal for deescalation. But he said the impact of the war on the U.S. economy and on the attitude of the American people warrants consideration of a cease-fire.

He said he was not concerned whether Hanoi agrees immediately to a cease-fire.

"I feel that if we make a sincere effort, there's a chance there will be a response," he said. "If not, we will still hold the initiative. But we will have made a gesture."

Norstad stressed that he was not suggesting the United States withdraw from South Vietnam.

The American people have made a commitment, he said, and it is their commitment, not that of any one president or political party.

Dixon is the district commander.

Two of the youngsters will read birthday greetings to Capt. Dixon from J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, and Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Another purpose of the march, said Roger Tilford, a teacher who organized it, is to help the pupils from the predominantly Negro section of Avondale and police to get to know each other.

Avondale, about four miles from downtown Cincinnati, was one of the areas struck by racial rioting in the middle of June and over the July 4 holiday period.

Tilford said a few of the pupils participated in the riots but will march in the parade. Almost all of the school's 1,000 enrollees, of whom only six are white, wanted to take part in the celebration. But the parking lot at the police station can accommodate only 600 students.

Three police cars will carry officials, who are part of the ceremony, and the junior high's band will also play and march. About 40 other boys will carry class room size flags, and the others will just wave signs.

Tilford said two of the signs read, "Happy Birthday Capt. Dixon" and "Capt. Dixon, 17 year dedicated service, thanks for caring."

After the program, the youngsters will have the opportunity to talk with policemen and some will be taken on a tour of the station.

"The kids need a push forward or someone will push them backward. We need to get there first," Tilford, a civics teacher said.

Divorce Inflation
LOS ANGELES (AP)— It costs more now to get divorced in California. A law passed by the 1967 session of the state legislature raises fee charged for filing a divorce suit, separate maintenance, or annulment by $1. In Los Angeles County the price now is $21.50.

Kashmir Problem Nearly 20 Years Old

By JOE MCGOWAN Jr.
Associated Press Writer

NEW DELHI, India (AP)— A motley force of tribesmen and army irregulars moved out of the arid plains of Pakistan and into the beautiful vale of Kashmir on a fall day just 20 years ago.

The "Kashmir Liberators" met little opposition for a couple of days and soon were threatening Srinagar, the state capital situated in a valley surrounded by the lofty Himalayas.

At this point, the Maharaja of Kashmir requested Indian troops in an appeal to Lord Mountbatten, who had been viceroy of India until August of that year, when independence was granted to the now-partitioned subcontinent.

With that, the maharaja, who was a Hindu, boarded a plane and fled south from the predominantly Moslem valley to pre-dominantly Hindu Jammu, the winter capital of Kashmir.

Fighting continued until the United Nations negotiated a cease-fire, effective Jan. 1, 1949. The cease-fire line left Pakistan in possession of about a third of Kashmir; India the remainder, including the vale of Kashmir.

That was the first round in a running dispute over custody of the 86,000-square-mile state.

It all started because of the imprecise manner in which the British partitioned the subcontinent and left unsettled the matter of accession of some pre-dominantly Moslem states to Pakistan.

India has claimed ever since that the Hindu maharaja opted for accession to India.

Pakistan says he had no right to do so, and for 20 years has been demanding a plebiscite in Kashmir—something India once agreed to but now says cannot be done. India claims Kashmir's ownership by India is an established fact.

Never in the two decades has there been peace, only varying degrees of hostility ranging from name calling to the all-out war with tanks and jet fighters in September 1965.

Thousands of lives have been lost, many thousands of persons have spent an entire generation living in refugee camps, large numbers of families who once lived in British India have no contact with segments of the family living on the other side of what became the India-Pakistan border.

In New Delhi, Indian leaders are fairly content to sit tight. They have possession of the most valuable portion of Kashmir and figure time is on their side.

There is a growing feeling that the government eventually will grant the Indian portion of Kashmir a degree of autonomy, in a move aimed at pacifying the Moslem majority there.

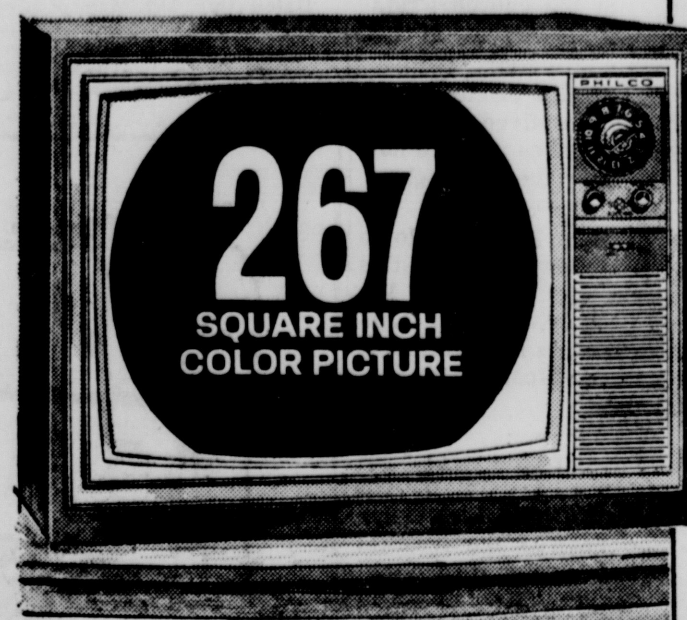

Balloons Go Up

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)— Boys and girls at Lynwood Elementary School sent 4,100 helium balloons into the air in October as part of a science project. Each balloon had a tag which asked the finder to notify the school. The balloons have been spotted in Idaho, Colorado, Texas and Hume, Va.

Progress Small In Transit Strike

CINCINNATI (AP)— A bit of progress was gained Wednesday in the city's transit strike as negotiators for the drivers union and Cincinnati Transit Co. agreed to review issues separating them, a spokesman said.

But hopes of ending the eight-day strike were dim as no new mediation sessions between the company and the Amalgamated Transit Workers Union were scheduled.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Mother-in-Law by Any Other Name

DEAR ABBY: That letter signed "Just an In-law" got my goat. Why should in-laws be "hurt" over what they are (or are not) called? If the relationship is right, they will be called whatever the new son-in-law or daughter-in-law feels comfortable calling them. If they aren't called anything, that's all right too. The most important thing is for everyone to feel at ease.

I don't think there is any problem unless a person makes one.

VINCENT

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me how mother-in-law got to be such a dirty name?

I have friends with married children who detest being referred to as "my mother-in-law". Why? That's what they are.

I do not wish to be called "mother" by anyone other than my own children. It sounds so forced and artificial.

A young woman comes into the family as a stranger, really, and after having properly addressed me as "Mrs. Jones" during the time my son courted her, suddenly I am "mother". No thank you.

CALL ME GLADYS

DEAR ABBY: Would you believe that I have been married for 4 years and have avoided addressing my mother-in-law directly because I do not know what to call her?

If she would only say, "Please, call me Hilda, or mother, or mom," I would be so relieved. Please print this as many of my friends have the same problem.

BEWILDERED

DEAR ABBY: My darling daughter-in-law didn't have to worry very long about what to call me. She (and everyone else) started calling me "grandma" 5 months after my son married.

her. I don't recommend this as a solution but it did solve a problem.

GRANDMA

DEAR ABBY: Don't tell me about young wives who call their mothers-in-law "mother" out of respect.

I have several friends who call their mothers-in-law "mother" to their faces, but you should hear what they call them behind their backs. Respect? Hah!

AMUSED

DEAR ABBY: I think complete honesty is the answer to what to call the in-laws.

The night my daughter's beau showed up with the ring, he turned to my husband and me and said, "After Marie and I are married, what would you like me to call you?" I said, "Anything you like."

He replied, "I have a mother and father of my own, so if you don't mind, I'll call you 'Belle mere and Beau frede.'"

And that's the way it's been for many years.

HAPPY IN QUEBEC

DEAR ABBY: Tres bien. If you have "de gaulle."

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal reply, inclose envelope.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Mother-in-Law by Any Other Name

DEAR ABBY: That letter signed "Just an In-law" got my goat. Why should in-laws be "hurt" over what they are (or are not) called? If the relationship is right, they will be called whatever the new son-in-law or daughter-in-law feels comfortable calling them. If they aren't called anything, that's all right too. The most important thing is for everyone to feel at ease.

I don't think there is any problem unless a person makes one.

VINCENT

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me how mother-in-law got to be such a dirty name?

I have friends with married children who detest being referred to as "my mother-in-law". Why? That's what they are.

I do not wish to be called "mother" by anyone other than my own children. It sounds so forced and artificial.

A young woman comes into the family as a stranger, really, and after having properly addressed me as "Mrs. Jones" during the time my son courted her, suddenly I am "mother". No thank you.

CALL ME GLADYS

DEAR ABBY: Would you believe that I have been married for 4 years and have avoided addressing my mother-in-law directly because I do not know what to call her?

If she would only say, "Please, call me Hilda, or mother, or mom," I would be so relieved. Please print this as many of my friends have the same problem.

BEWILDERED

DEAR ABBY: My darling daughter-in-law didn't have to worry very long about what to call me. She (and everyone else) started calling me "grandma" 5 months after my son married.

her, I don't recommend this as a solution but it did solve a problem.

GRANDMA

DEAR ABBY: Don't tell me about young wives who call their mothers-in-law "mother" out of respect.

I have several friends who call their mothers-in-law "mother" to their faces, but you should hear what they call them behind their backs. Respect? Hah!

AMUSED

DEAR ABBY: I think complete honesty is the answer to what to call the in-laws:

The night my daughter's beau showed up with the ring, he turned to my husband and me and said, "After Marie and I are married, what would you like me to call you?" I said, "Anything you like."

He replied, "I have a mother and father of my own, so if you don't mind, I'll call you 'Belle mere and Beau frede.'"

And that's the way it's been for many years.

HAPPY IN QUEBEC

DEAR ABBY: Tres bien. If you have "de gaulle."

Scioto Valley Conference Announces All-Star Team

Selection of players to the All-Scioto Valley Conference has been announced by the coaches. Westfall landed three berths on the offensive team and five on the defensive unit. Logan Elm had one back named to the offense and none to the defense. Tony Lightle, the Mustangs' 6-4 end, made the offensive team at his position. He is a junior. Bruce Sykes was named left guard on the offense and outside

FROM Logan Elm, Ankrom was picked for second team left end, Larry Stant, an outside linebacker. Also on the defensive team were Larry Brenneham, Unioto; Mike Kerns, Unioto; Larry Kinnamon, Paint Valley; McAfee, Unioto and Tom Brown, Unioto. Unioto reaped most of the honors, gaining eight first team positions, the linemen of the year, the back of the year and the coach of the year. Mike Borland was named the SVC's outstanding lineman. He is a senior right tackle for the Shermans. Mike Juenger, the junior quarterback at Unioto, was named back of the year while first season mentor Jim Long was handed the coaching laurels.

Reynoldsburg will be one of the biggest teams that Circleville has played. They have tackles that go 245 and 260 according to the scouting report, a defensive end that weighs over 200 pounds and a 260 plus pound fullback. In spite of their size they are quick and have the leading groundgainer and scorer in the Metropolitan League. The Tiger scouts say the team plays a hardnose defense that will be as tough as any faced this year. With a capacity crowd expected, Don Poling, CHS faculty adviser, has urged fans to purchase their tickets at Risch and Bingham drugstores before the game to avoid a lineup at the ticket booth. It will be parents night with festivities scheduled to start at 7:20 p.m. The Junior High and varsity bands will perform along with the Reynoldsburg marching unit.

Farm Out Rookies DETROIT (AP) — Rookies Sonny Dove of St. John's, N.Y., and Paul Long of Wake Forest will be farmed out by the Detroit Pistons of the NBA, it was announced Wednesday night. They will be sent to the Pontiac Tomahawks of the North American Basketball League.

County Teams Start Junior High League

Ashville, Scioto Monroe, Jackson Win In Initial Action

Ashville edged Salt Creek, 38-32, Scioto downed Pickaway, 51-16, Jackson defeated Washington 50-32, and Monroe won over defending league champion Walnut, 36-26. In the Ashville-Salt Creek contest, the visiting Broncos trailed by three points with a minute to go in the game. They deadlocked the score at 32-32 and then held the Warriors scoreless in an overtime while pouring in six points. Sam Wilson paced the winners with 12 points while Bobby Brown scored 13 for the losers. Salt Creek owned a 64-24 victory posted Monday over St. Joseph's new seventh and eighth grade team. Monroe held leads of 12-8, 21-10 and 26-14 at the quarter marks against Walnut. Rich Furniss and Mike Peterson scored nine points each for the winners while Bruce Presler and Barr shared honors for the losers with six each.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tickets went up for grabs today for pro football's Super Bowl game, with virtually certain prospects that it will be the first game in history to gross in excess of $3 million. Inaugurated last January in the Los Angeles Coliseum, the playoff between National and American Football League champions was transferred to Miami's Orange Bowl and will be played Jan. 14. The initial game was a disappointment, financially and artistically. Only 63,036 fans attended and the NFL's Green Bay Packers routed the Kansas City Chiefs 35-10. An expected sellout of the 75,546-seat Orange Bowl would bring in $796,822. Television and radio revenue, up this year from $2 million to $2.5 million, would make the total gross $3,296,822. This would top by more than one-half million the $276,260 grossed at Los Angeles.

Mike Garrett Player of Week

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer Mike Garrett's spontaneous feet don't hurt much any more but now the New York Jets' defensive line isn't feeling very good. Garrett shredded the Jets' front four for 192 yards in 23 carries last Sunday as Kansas City routed New York 42-18. The performance made Garrett The Associated Press' choice as American Football League Offensive Player of the Week. "I felt better spiritually and physically than I have all year," said Garrett, after his slants had run the Jets ragged. The 1965 Heisman Trophy winner has been troubled by sore toes and banged up ankles this season.

Massillon Accused of Illegality

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A charge that Massillon used electronic equipment illegally in its 28-16 victory over Steubenville last Friday could have far-reaching repercussions for Ohio high school football. Steubenville High's athletic board made the protest official today in a letter to Ohio High School Athletic Association Commissioner Paul Landis. The board had charged Monday that Massillon used a video tape recording device which provides for instant replays in violation of association rules. Massillon denied the charge. Landis apparently irate over the incident, said he would ask Massillon to reply in writing to the charge before taking any action. The use of television relay or monitor equipment is prohibited at any time during the playing of a game when used for coaching purposes — except at halftime. The penalty is forfeiture of the game. The Ohio rule is a modification of an NCAA regulation. "I have talked to all the principals involved and I want more information in writing," Landis said. "I want to give Massillon the opportunity to reply."

"After that, if there is sufficient evidence that the rule was violated, there will be an investigation. "But we're not going to investigate on the basis of newspaper rumors," Landis said. "From what I am told, it appears the equipment was not used illegally," he added. He indicated that some of the larger schools in the state had put too much emphasis on winning football games and that he could ask the State Board of Control to rule out use of electronic equipment under any circumstances. Such a move is under consideration, he said. Steubenville Coach Abe Bryan said he was not requesting that Massillon forfeit its victory. "The use of this equipment is unfair to any team they have played," Bryan said. Angelo J. Vaccaro, Steubenville High principal, said his letter of protest contained the names of seven witnesses who claim Massillon used the electronic device for instant replays. Sam Bell, principal at Massillon, said he had reviewed the charge with head coach Bob Seaman and Dr. James Fry, superintendent of schools in Massillon. "I am perfectly satisfied that there was no illegal use of the equipment," Bell said. "There was absolutely no playbacks during the game. It was replayed only at halftime." While Steubenville officials are not asking Massillon to forfeit, they made it clear that the commissioner's course is obvious if he finds the replay rule was violated.

Fair Weather Promised For Tiger Grid Finale

The weather man has promised a fine night for the Circleville High School football finale Friday against visiting Reynoldsburg. With fair weather and moderate temperatures in the forecast, a capacity crowd is expected to see Circleville Tigers shoot for their first undefeated season under Coach Paul Starr. But all week long the Tigers have been making adjustments in the lineup. Two of the regulars will not play. Steve Dade and Rod Sines. Sines, who logs plenty of playing time at offensive tackle and defensive end, is sick and has been ruled out of action by his physician. ON offense, Starr announced today that Don Cordle will start for the senior tackle. Other offensive starters are Dick Thornton, center; Jim Samuel, and Steve Carroll, guards; Lambert at the other tackle spot; George Hill and Jim Campbell at ends. In the backfield, Danny Smith will start at tailback. Tom Wright will be the shortback.

Cornerbacks will be Lynn Heath and Campbell. Smith and Wright will play safeties, Gates and Samuel the linebackers. Another defensive possibility could find Gates at defensive end, a position where he earned all-league honors last year, and Sims at linebacker. Reynoldsburg will be one of the biggest teams that Circleville has played. They have tackles that go 245 and 260 according to the scouting report, a defensive end that weighs over 200 pounds and a 260 plus pound fullback. Bower Leads Leafs to Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS It was Johnny Bower's umpteenth birthday and he celebrated by leading the elderly Toronto Maple Leafs to the top of the National Hockey League's East Division. Bower, who is 43 if you believe the NHL record book, 44 if you believe him or 45 if you believe others, kicked out 38 Oakland shots as the Maple Leafs defeated the Seal 6-1 Wednesday night. Combined with Boston's 6-3 romp over New York, the victory lifted the Stanley Cup champion Leafs into first place, one point in front of the Rangers. Elsewhere, slumping Stan Mikita scored two goals as Chicago tripped Montreal 3-2. Minnesota slugged St. Louis 5-1, and Pittsburgh battled Philadelphia to a 1-1 standoff.

Scioto Valley Conference Announces All-Star Team

Selection of players to the All-Scioto Valley Conference has been announced by the coaches. Westfall landed three berths on the offensive team and five on the defensive unit. Logan Elm had one back named to the offense and none to the defense. Tony Lightle, the Mustangs' 6-4 end, made the offensive team at his position. He is a junior. Bruce Sykes was named left guard on the offense and outside linebacker on defense. John Funniss was picked as a halfback on both defense and offense. Also on the defensive unit from Westfall were Don Greenwood, a junior middle guard, Marlin Howard, sophomore right tackle and Jack Moore, a junior left end.

Other second team offense players were Mike Wright, Unioto; Terry Legg, Piketon; Keith Shoemaker, Paint Valley; Mark Litter, Paint Valley; Jack Woodfork, Unioto and John Davis, Unioto.

The second team defense included Greg Bigam, Westfall, halfback; Clark McFarland, Westfall, linebacker; Tom Dewey, Westfall, right tackle.

FROM Logan Elm, Ankrom was picked for second team left end, Larry Stant an outside linebacker.

Also on the defensive team were Larry Brennehan, Unioto; Mike Kerns, Unioto; Larry Kinnamon, Paint Valley; McAfee, Unioto and Tom Brown, Unioto.

Unioto reaped most of the honors, gaining eight first team positions, the linemen of the year, the back of the year and the coach of the year.

Mike Borland was named the SVC's outstanding lineman. He is a senior right tackle for the Shermans. Mike Juenger, the junior quarterback at Unioto, was named back of the year while first season mentor Jim Long was handed the coaching laurels.

Reynoldsburg will be one of the biggest teams that Circleville has played. They have tackles that go 245 and 260 according to the scouting report, a defensive end that weighs over 200 pounds and a 260 plus pound fullback.

IN spite of their size they are quick and have the leading groundgainer and scorer in the Metropolitan League.

The Tiger scouts say the team plays a hardnose defense that will be as tough as any faced this year.

With a capacity crowd expected, Don Poling, CHS faculty adviser, has urged fans to purchase their tickets at Risch and Bingham drugstores before the game to avoid a lineup at the ticket booth.

It will be parents night with festivities scheduled to start at 7:20 p.m. The Junior High and varsity bands will perform along with the Reynoldsburg marching unit.

Farm Out Rookies
DETROIT (AP) — Rookies Sonny Dove of St. John's, N.Y., and Paul Long of Wake Forest will be farmed out by the Detroit Pistons of the NBA, it was announced Wednesday night. They will be sent to the Pontiac Tomahawks of the North American Basketball League.

County Teams Start Junior High League

Ashville, Scioto Monroe, Jackson Win In Initial Action

Ashville edged Salter Creek, 38-32, Scioto downed Pickaway, 51-16, Jackson defeated Washington 50-32, and Monroe won over defending league champion Walnut, 36-26.

In the Ashville-Salter Creek contest, the visiting Broncos trailed by three points with a minute to go in the game. They deadlocked the score at 32-32 and then held the Warriors scoreless in an overtime while pouring in six points.

Sam Wilson paced the winners with 12 points while Bobby Brown scored 13 for the losers. It was Ashville's first game. Salter Creek owned a 64-24 victory posted Monday over St. Joseph's senior seventh and eighth grade team.

Monroe held leads of 12-8, 21-10 and 26-14 at the quarter marks against Walnut.

Rick Furniss and Mike Peterson scored nine points each for the winners while Bruce Presler and Barr shared honors for the losers with six each.

Super Bowl Wealthy Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Tickets went up for grabs today for pro football's Super Bowl game, with virtually certain prospects that it will be the first game in history to gross in excess of $3 million.

Inaugurated last January in the Los Angeles Coliseum, the playoff between National and American Football League champions was transferred to Miami's Orange Bowl and will be played Jan. 14.

The initial game was a disappointment, financially and artistically. Only 63,036 fans attended and the NFL's Green Bay Packers routed the Kansas City Chiefs 35-10.

An expected sellout of the 75,546-seat Orange Bowl would bring in $796,822. Television and radio revenue, up this year from $2 million to $2.5 million, would make the total gross $3,296,822.

This would top by more than one-half million the $276,260 grossed at Los Angeles.

Massillon Accused of Illegality

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A charge that Massillon used electronic equipment illegally in its 26-16 victory over Steubenville last Friday could have far-reaching repercussions for Ohio high school football.

Steubenville High's athletic board made the protest official today in a letter to Ohio High School Athletic Association Commissioner Paul Landis.

The board had charged Monday that Massillon used a video tape recording device which provides for instant replays in violation of association rules.

Massillon denied the charge. Landis apparently irate over the incident, said he would ask Massillon to reply in writing to the charge before taking any action.

The use of television relay or monitor equipment is prohibited at any time during the playing of a game when used for coaching purposes — except at halftime. The penalty is forfeiture of the game.

The Ohio rule is a modification of an NCAA regulation. "I have talked to all the principals involved and I want more information in writing," Landis said. "I want to give Massillon the opportunity to reply."

"After that, if there is sufficient evidence that the rule was violated, there will be an investigation."

"But we're not going to investigate on the basis of newspaper rumors," Landis said. "From what I am told, it appears the equipment was not used illegally," he added.

He indicated that some of the larger schools in the state had put too much emphasis on winning football games and that he could ask the State Board of Control to rule out use of electronic equipment under any circumstances. Such a move is under consideration, he said.

Steubenville Coach Abe Bryan said he was not requesting that Massillon forfeit its victory.

"The use of this equipment is unfair to any team they have played," Bryan said.

Angelo J. Vaccaro, Steubenville High principal, said his letter of protest contained the names of seven witnesses who claim Massillon used the electronic device for instant replays.

Sam Bell, principal at Massillon, said he had reviewed the charge with head coach Bob Seaman and Dr. James Fry, superintendent of schools in Massillon.

"I am perfectly satisfied that there was no illegal use of the equipment," Bell said. "There was absolutely no playbacks during the game. It was replayed only at halftime."

While Steubenville officials are not asking Massillon to forfeit, they made it clear that the commissioner's course is obvious if he finds the replay rule was violated.

Zane Trace Junior High Wins Opener

Zane Trace Junior High School at Kingston opened its 1967-68 basketball season with a 57-10 victory at Pickaway Twp.

The junior Pioneers have only one returning letterman in David Hammond, the leading rebounder in the opening game with 19.

Fred Chaffin led all scorers with 19 points, playing less than half a game. The Pioneers led the Pirates 23-4, 37-5 and 47-9 at the quarter breaks.

Vernon Hooper is the coach. Members of the team are David Hammond, Fred Chaffin, Bill Miller, Doug Ramsey, Richard Merriman, Ricky Tripp, Kenny Kern, Rick Edler, Tom Pater son, Steve Phillips, Doug Strasser, Eric Stausbaugh, Greg Van Hooser, Terry Seymour, Kenny Walls, Terry Chaffin, and Marvin Short.

Managers are James Lewis and Jeff Streitenberger. The next game for the junior high cagers is Nov. 14 at Hunting-ton Twp.

Mike Garrett Player of Week

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Mike Garrett's spontaneous feet don't hurt much any more but now the New York Jets' defensive line isn't feeling very good.

Garrett shredded the Jets' front four for 192 yards in 23 carries last Sunday as Kansas City routed New York 42-18. The performance made Garrett The Associated Press' choice as American Football League Offensive Player of the Week.

"I felt better spiritually and physically than I have all year," said Garrett, after his slants had run the Jets ragged. The 1965 Heisman Trophy winner has been troubled by sore toes and banged up ankles this season.

Fair Weather Promised For Tiger Grid Finale

The weather man has promised a fine night for the Circleville High School football finale Friday against visiting Reynoldsburg.

With fair weather and moderate temperatures in the forecast, a capacity crowd is expected to see Circleville Tigers shoot for their first undefeated season under Coach Paul Starr.

But all week long the Tigers have been making adjustments in the lineup. Two of the regulars will not play. Steve Dade and Rod Sines.

Sines, who logs plenty of playing time at offensive tackle and defensive end, is sick and has been ruled out of action by his physician.

ON offense, Starr announced today that Don Cordle will start for the senior tackle. Other offensive starters are Dick Thornton, center; Jim Samuel, and Steve Carroll, guards; Lambert at the other tackle spot; George Hill and Jim Campbell at ends.

In the backfield, Danny Smith will start at tailback. Tom Wright will be the shortback.

Bower Leads Leafs to Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was Johnny Bower's untimely birthday and he celebrated by leading the elderly Toronto Maple Leafs to the top of the National Hockey League's East Division.

Bower, who is 43 if you believe the NHL record book, 44 if you believe him or 45 if you believe others, kicked out 38 Oakland shots as the Maple Leafs defeated the Seal 6-1 Wednesday night.

Combined with Boston's 6-3 romp over New York, the victory lifted the Stanley Cup champion Leafs into first place, one point in front of the Rangers.

Elsewhere, slumping Stan Mikita scored two goals as Chicago tripped Montreal 3-2, Minnesota slugged St. Louis 5-1, and Pittsburgh battled Philadelphia to a 1-1 standoff.

N.D. Bisons Up To 2nd Place In College Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Dakota State's 41-7 victory over Morningside in its season finale coupled with Waynesburg's unexpected 7-0 setback by Fairmont, W.Va. has enabled the Bison from Fargo, N.D. to replace the Yellow Jackets in second place in The Associated Press' small-college football poll today.

San Diego State, idle last week, maintained its solid lead in the latest voting by a national panel of 16 sports writers and broadcasters based on game through last Saturday.

The Aztecs collected six votes for first-place and 143 points on a basis of 10 point for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc. San Diego State, 7-0 has an overall winning streak of 23 games.

North Dakota State completing its regular campaign with a 9-0 mark, advanced one position. The Bison drew 127 points, including 30 for three first-place votes. ND State will play in the Pecan Bowl Dec. 16 in Abilene, Tex.

80 Golfers Open World Cup Tourney

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Eighty of the world's best golfers open play today in the 15th World Cup tournament with Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer of the United States big favorites to repeat their 1960 team victory.

While the Americans are overwhelming favorites in the field of 40 national teams for the team title, they expect to get tough competition for individual honors from half a dozen top professionals.

There is no big chunk of prize money in this tournament — only $3,000 for the individual champion—but many of the golfers feel national prestige is at stake in the 72-hole tournament on the par 72, 7,250-yard Club de Golf Mexico course.

Top golfers who may give Nicklaus, the leading pro money winner this year, and Palmer competition for individual honors are Gary Player of South Africa, defending individual champion George Knudson of Canada, Bruce Crampton of Australia, Boz Charles of New Zealand, Juan "Chi Chi" Rodriguez of Puerto Rico and Dave Thomas of Wales.

The course, stretched out to make the longest ever used in World Cup play for the largest number of entries ever, is a narrow, demanding layout an hour from downtown Mexico City.

Americans Tip Pitt, 120-97

Jim Caldwell's rookie season in the American Basketball Association is off to a much better start than his short-lived venture in the National Basketball Association.

In his first game with New Jersey of the ABA after being cut by the NBA New York Knicks, Caldwell scored 14 points and pulled down 15 rebounds in the Americans' 120-97 victory over Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

The 6-foot-10 center, who signed Monday, got 12 of his rebounds in the first half as New Jersey took a 41-38 lead. Tony Jackson, was the high scorer with 33 points for the Americans. Chico Vaughn had 26 for the Pipers.

Now Or Never Time Here for Prep Gridders

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It's now or never for Ohio's top-ranked high school football teams as they shoot for the mythical state championship.

Top-rated Upper Arlington and No. 2 Massillon appear to have the best shot at the title but face stiff opposition this weekend.

Unbeaten Cincinnati Roger Bacon looks like the best bet to claim the throne if the two frontrunners stumble or are not impressive in their finales. Bacon is ranked third.

Arlington must avoid a repeat of last year's windup when Columbus Watterson socked the Golden Bears 32-0 and copped the crown for itself.

The Eagles have lost three times this year and also have a tie but have come fast lately and figure to give Arlington a stern test. The Friday night clash is at a neutral site.

Massillon, which shot back into contention by upending Steubenville last week, tangles with traditional rival Canton McKinley on the Bulldogs' home field Saturday.

The only blemish on Coach Bob Seaman's Tigers' schedule is a 7-6 loss to Arlington three weeks ago.

Massillon is bidding for its 12th state championship while Arlington and the other clubs in The AP's Top Ten have never won a title. UA came close a year ago and were rated No. 1 until Watterson crushed Coach Marv Moorhead's hopes.

Roger Bacon, which has shut out seven of its foes en route to a 9-0 campaign, has an easier assignment than the others. The Spartans play host to Cincinnati McNicholas, a club that shows a 2-7 record.

Scholarship sidelinings: In beating Cincinnati Purcell 42-0 last Friday, Bacon assured itself of at least a share of its fifth Greater Cincinnati League championship in the past seven years.

Halfback Mike McKee of unbeaten Newark Catholic gained 227 yards against New Lexington St. Aloysius last week to boost his total yardage to 1,367 in nine games. He also has 116 points.

Coach Don Miller's Granville eleven finished with a 7-1-1 record giving Miller a coaching log of 113-40-9.

Unbeaten Lakewood (9 - 0), which has allowed only 28 points this season, is the Lake Erie champion.

Small Caliber Bullet Stops Cincy Royals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cincinnati Royals were shot down by a small caliber Bullet.

Guard Johnny Egan—listed in the National Basketball Association guide as 5-foot-11, making him the league's smallest player—gunned in 26 points Wednesday night and helped the Baltimore Bullets snap a six-game losing streak with a 122-100 victory over the Royals.

St. Louis, hotter than a pistol in the Western Division, won its 13th game in 14 starts, 111-96 over Seattle; Detroit edged New York 110-108 and Philadelphia downed San Diego 129-114 in other scheduled NBA games.

Egan sparked the Bullets to a 15-0 burst in the final three minutes of the third quarter as they built up an 87-71 lead at the end of the period. He then scored 17 of his points in the final quarter as the Bullets coasted home.

Gus Johnson added 24 points and Earl Monroe 22 for the Bullets. Happy Hairston scored 28 and Jerry Lucas 20 for the Royals.

Kenyon To Play

GAMBIER, Ohio (AP)—Kenyon, which finished the season with a 6-3-1 record, has accepted an invitation to play in the NCAA Mid-Eastern College Division Soccer Championships at Wheaton, Ill., Nov. 17-18.

Seventh-ranked Sandusky claimed its third straight Buckeye Conference crown with its eighth triumph last weekend. The Blue Streaks' Eddie Williams rushed for 178 yards and scored three touchdowns. Williams, who now has compiled 2,974 yards, is just 85 short of his brother Stew Williams' record.

Columbus Eastmoor racked up its second straight unbeaten campaign and now has won 20 in a row over three years. When Watterson rallied to whip Columbus Hartley 34-23 Friday, it was the sixth straight Central Catholic league title for the Eagles.

Jim Smith, a 6-foot-4, 195-pound senior who scored four touchdowns from his tailback spot for Massillon last Friday, played split end for the Tigers last year. He carried the ball 39 times for a Massillon record.

No. 8 Fredericktown (8-0-1) won the Johnny Appleseed Conference flag by beating AA Lexington. It was the Freddie's first unbeaten season since 1958.

Don Davidson boosted his scoring output to 102 points leading Highland of Morrow County in a 51 - romp over Centerburg.

Ashland routed Mount Vernon 42-8 although Mount Vernon ran 62 scrimmage plays to 36 for the Arrows. But Joe Shideler of Ashland scored one TD on a 94-yard run and two others on sprints of 85 and 70 yards with pass interceptions.

Dayton Belmont's Denny "The Roadrunner" Whitehead scored four touchdowns and 213 yards against Dayton Kiser.

Unbeaten Unioto won its third straight Scioto Valley title and has not been defeated in 29 straight games. Only an 18-18 tie with Piketon in 1965 mars the record. The club is coached by Jim Long, in his first year.

No. 5 Dover goes after its first perfect season in 25 years Friday against arch rival New Philadelphia. Strasburg fullback Bob Welling finished the season with 130 points.

The course, stretched out to make the longest ever used in World Cup play for the largest number of entries ever, is a narrow, demanding layout an hour from downtown Mexico City.

Small Caliber Bullet Stops Cincy Royals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cincinnati Royals were shot down by a small caliber Bullet.

Guard Johnny Egan—listed in the National Basketball Association guide as 5-foot-11, making him the league's smallest player—gunned in 26 points Wednesday night and helped the Baltimore Bullets snap a six-game losing streak with a 122-100 victory over the Royals.

St. Louis, hotter than a pistol in the Western Division, won its 13th game in 14 starts, 111-96 over Seattle; Detroit edged New York 110-108 and Philadelphia downed San Diego 129-114 in other scheduled NBA games.

Egan sparked the Bullets to a 15-0 burst in the final three minutes of the third quarter as they built up an 87-71 lead at the end of the period. He then scored 17 of his points in the final quarter as the Bullets coasted home.

Gus Johnson added 24 points and Earl Monroe 22 for the Bullets. Happy Hairston scored 28 and Jerry Lucas 20 for the Royals.

Kenyon To Play

GAMBIER, Ohio (AP)—Kenyon, which finished the season with a 6-3-1 record, has accepted an invitation to play in the NCAA Mid-Eastern College Division Soccer Championships at Wheaton, Ill., Nov. 17-18.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It's now or never for Ohio's top-ranked high school football teams as they shoot for the mythical state championship.

Top-rated Upper Arlington and No. 2 Massillon appear to have the best shot at the title but face stiff opposition this weekend.

Unbeaten Cincinnati Roger Bacon looks like the best bet to claim the throne if the two frontrunners stumble or are not impressive in their finales. Bacon is ranked third.

Arlington must avoid a repeat of last year's windup when Columbus Watterson socked the Golden Bears 32-0 and copped the crown for itself.

The Eagles have lost three times this year and also have a tie but have come fast lately and figure to give Arlington a stern test. The Friday night clash is at a neutral site.

Massillon, which shot back into contention by upending Steubenville last week, tangles with traditional rival Canton McKinley on the Bulldogs' home field Saturday.

The only blemish on Coach Bob Seaman's Tigers' schedule is a 7-6 loss to Arlington three weeks ago.

Massillon is bidding for its 12th state championship while Arlington and the other clubs in The AP's Top Ten have never won a title. UA came close a year ago and were rated No. 1 until Watterson crushed Coach Marv Moorhead's hopes.

Roger Bacon, which has shut out seven of its foes en route to a 9-0 campaign, has an easier assignment than the others. The Spartans play host to Cincinnati McNicholas, a club that shows a 2-7 record.

Scholastic sidelights:

In beating Cincinnati Purcell 42-0 last Friday, Bacon assured itself of at least a share of its fifth Greater Cincinnati League championship in the past seven years.

Halfback Mike McKee of unbeaten Newark Catholic gained 227 yards against New Lexington St. Aloysius last week to boost his total yardage to 1,367 in nine games. He also has 116 points.

Coach Don Miller's Granville eleven finished with a 7-1-1 record giving Miller a coaching log of 113-40-9.

Unbeaten Lakewood (9-0), which has allowed only 28 points this season, is the Lake Erie champion.

Seventh-ranked Sandusky claimed its third straight Buckeye Conference crown with its eighth triumph last weekend. The Blue Streaks' Eddie Williams rushed for 178 yards and scored three touchdowns. Williams, who now has compiled 2,974 yards, is just 85 short of his brother Stew Williams' record.

Columbus Eastmoor racked up its second straight unbeaten campaign and now has won 20 in a row over three years. When Watterson rallied to whip Columbus Hartley 34-23 Friday, it was the sixth straight Central Catholic league title for the Eagles.

Jim Smith, a 6-foot-4, 195-pound senior who scored four touchdowns from his tailback spot for Massillon last Friday, played split end for the Tigers.

last year. He carried the ball 39 times for a Massillon record.

No. 8 Fredericktown (8-0-1) won the Johnny Appleseed Conference flag by beating AA Lexington. It was the Freddie's first unbeaten season since 1958.

Don Davidson boosted his scoring output to 102 points leading Highland of Morrow County in a 51-0 romp over Centerburg.

Ashland routed Mount Vernon 42-8 although Mount Vernon ran 62 scrimmage plays to 36 for the Arrows. But Joe Shideler of Ashland scored one TD on a 94-yard run and two others on sprints of 85 and 70 yards with pass interceptions.

Dayton Belmont's Denny "The Roadrunner" Whitehead scored four touchdowns and 213 yards against Dayton Kiser.

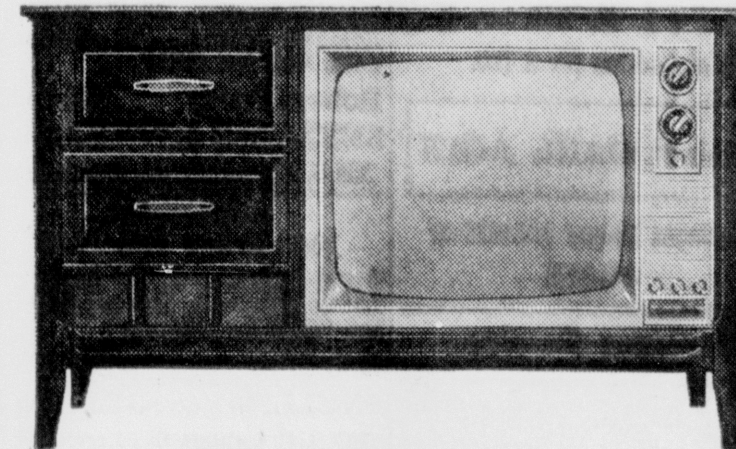

Unbeaten Unioto won its third straight Scioto Valley title and has not been defeated in 29 straight games. Only an 18-18 tie with Piketon in 1965 mars the record. The club is coached by Jim Long, in his first year.

No. 5 Dover goes after its first perfect season in 25 years Friday against arch rival New Philadelphia. Strasburg fullback Bob Welling finished the season with 130 points.

Stokes To Face Pay Demands

CLEVELAND (AP) — One of the first problems Carl B. Stokes will face as mayor will be that of pay raises for Cleveland's police and firemen.

Detective Frank J. Schaefer, president of the Fraternal Order of Police, said Wednesday that negotiators for the police and firemen will seek an appointment with Stokes after he takes office next Monday.

Schaefer said it is hoped that pay raises can be negotiated and put in effect by the first of the year.

Police and firemen want a starting salary of $9,000 a year, which would make them the highest paid safety forces in Ohio. They now are paid $7,864 to start.

Delaware County Indicts Man

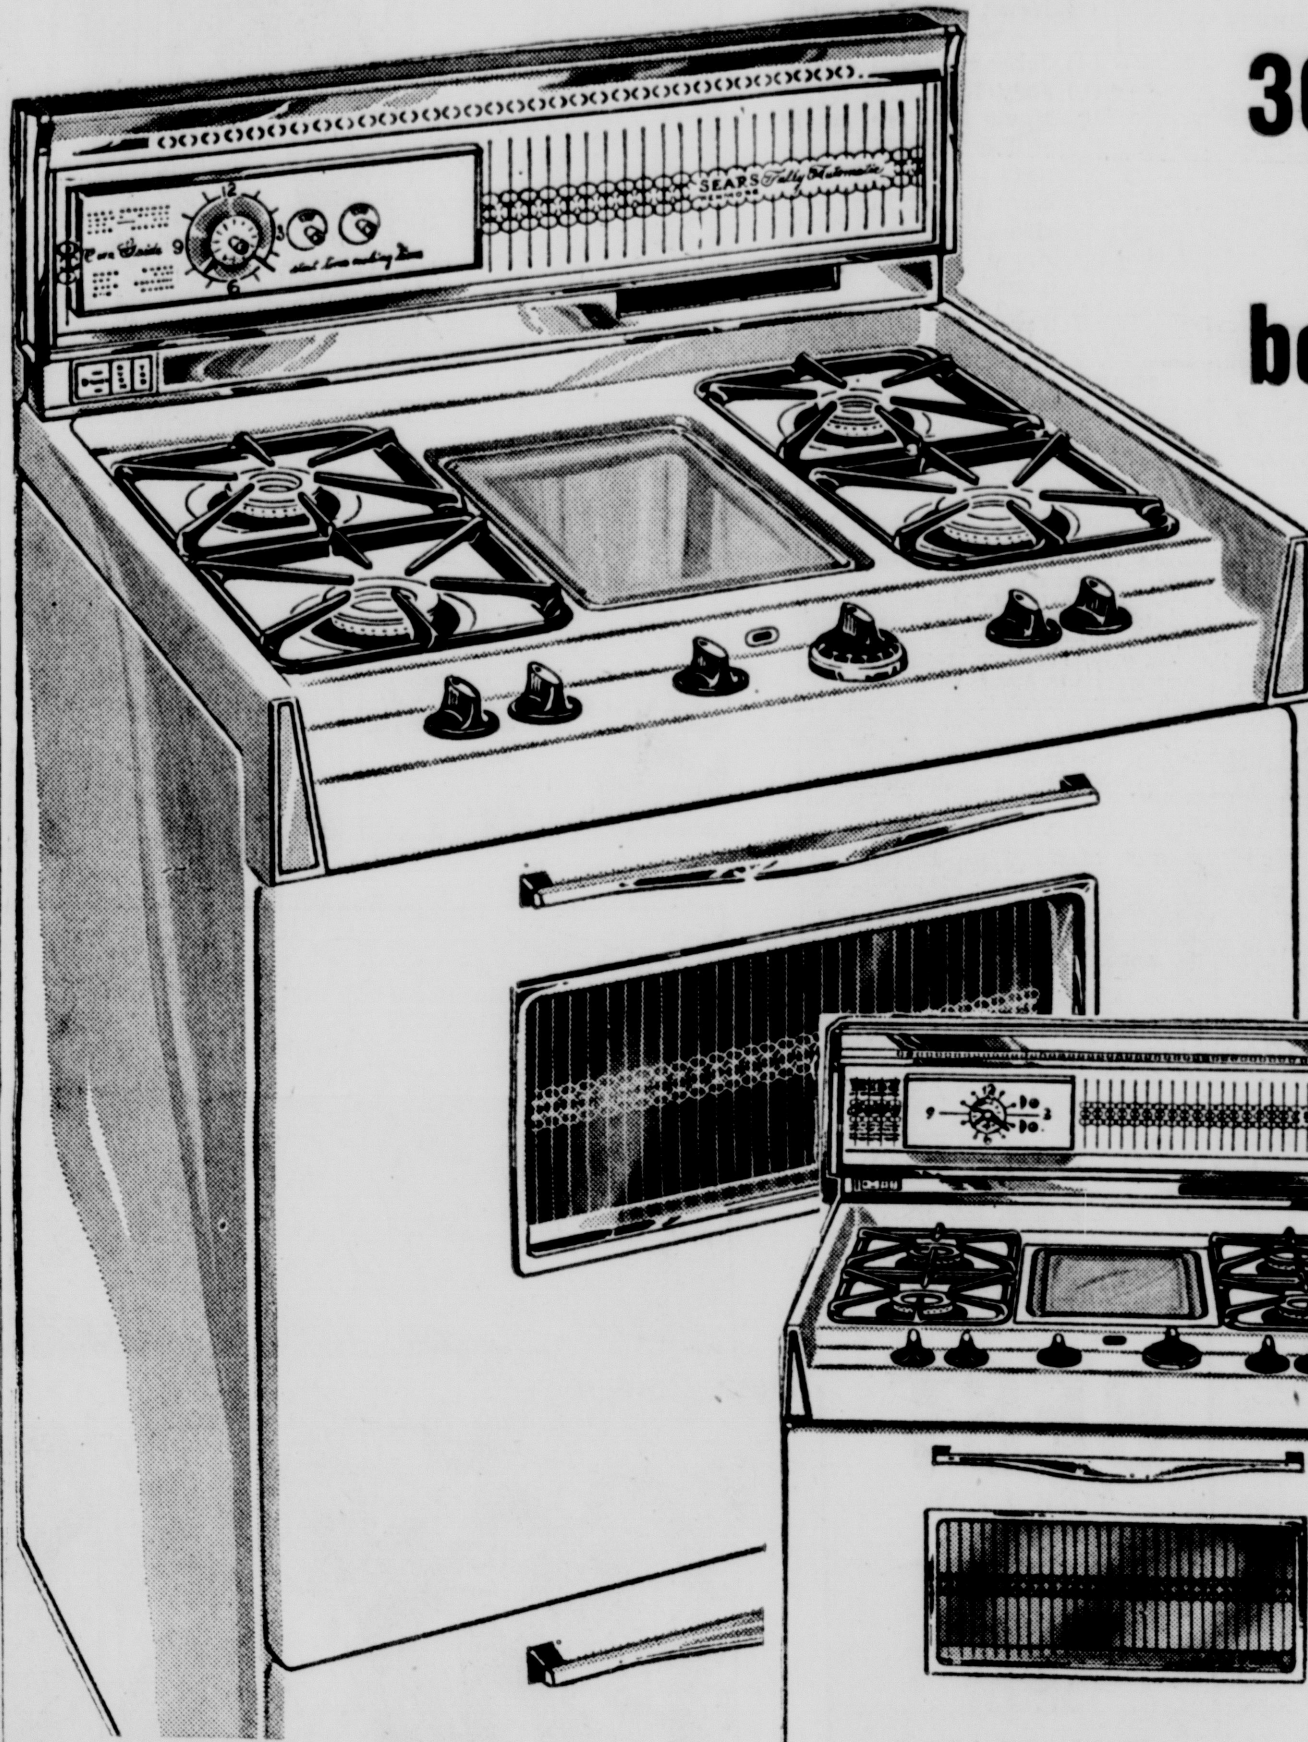

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — A special session of the Delaware County Grand Jury returned a murder indictment Wednesday against Arthur Ben Lewis, 39, a Columbus businessman charged in the shotgun slaying of another Columbus area man.

An earlier indictment against Lewis, charged with first-degree murder, was challenged as faulty by his attorney. Lewis is accused of the July 19 slaying of Paul L. Radcliffe, 53, an accountant from Worthington. Lewis has been in the county jail here since his arrest Oct. 10.
